

APPEARANCES:

MR. BRIAN TOWNE,
LaSalle County State's Attorney,
-and-
MR. GREG STICKA,
Assistant LaSalle County State's Attorney,

on behalf of the People;

MS. JULIE AJSTER,
Attorney at Law,

on behalf of the Defendant.

1 (Whereupon the following proceedings
2 were held in open court.)

3 THE COURT: Let the record show this is People of 4 the State of Illinois versus Danny French. It's 5 2014-CF-528.

6 This matter is before the Court this 7 afternoon for a hearing on the State's Motion to 8 Disqualify Defense Counsel and Defense Counsel's Motion
9 to Appoint a Special Prosecutor.

10 Could Counsel please identify themselves and 11 their clients for the record?

12 MR. TOWNE: Brian Towne and Greg Sticka on behalf 13 of the State, Your Honor.

14 MS. AJSTER: Julie Ajster on behalf of the 15 Defendant, Danny French.

16 THE COURT: Is the State ready to proceed?

17 MR. TOWNE: Your Honor, before we proceed on those 18 motions, as an officer of the Court, I believe that I 19 have an obligation to bring certain facts to your 20 attention.

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. TOWNE: I do not wish nor do I intend to 23 relitigate all of the matters that were discussed at 24 last week's hearing involving the motion to increase

1 bail. However, again, as an officer of the Court, I
2 believe that it's pertinent to this Court's earlier 3 decision in this matter that the Court be made aware of 4 a certain fact.

5 That fact is that the State has come -- come 6 into knowledge that an individual made contact with the 7 Peru Police Department indicating that they had 8 observed the defendant, Danny French, at Jumer's Casino 9 over this past weekend. Based on that information, the 10 Peru Police Department and the LaSalle County
11 Sheriff -- LaSalle County State's Attorney's office
12 conducted an investigation and subpoenaed from Jumer's 13 Casino certain surveillance footage which shows 14 Mr. French and Ms. Ajster at Jumer's.

15 Pertinent to this discussion is the fact that 16 Mr. French neither was in a wheelchair, nor did he 17 have Ace bandages around his ankles or his wrists; 18 neither was he in the company of a nurse; and that he 19 was walking freely throughout the casino.

20 I bring this before the Court not to besmirch 21 the character of the defendant but only so that the 22 Court may consider that as part of the fact that the 23 Court did consider the defendant's medical condition, 24 or apparent medical condition, last week and the fact

1 that we've had this mockery of the court system with 2 Mr. French being wheeled in and wheeled out and breaks
3 because of his hands turning purple, which I believe 4 were all intended to make a mockery of this Court and 5 the Court system. I believe that based on the 6 surveillance footage, which you now have pursuant to 7 the subpoena, that was delivered to you this morning 8 and that we are prepared to show in open court, that 9 that would and should be considered by this Court for 10 purposes of once again increasing that bail, for 11 purposes of holding Ms. Ajster in contempt of court for 12 making deliberately false information and submissions 13 to this Court about the medical condition of the 14 defendant; and I will indicate to the Court that as an 15 officer of the Court with Himmel obligations, that I 16 will be turning Ms. Ajster over to the ARDC for these 17 misrepresentations, as well.

18 And we're ready to show the video. It's 19 right over there. So the Court can see how well 20 Mr. French is mobile and has no medical illnesses 21 whatsoever.

22 THE COURT: Ms. Ajster, any response?

23 MS. AJSTER: Your Honor, I don't think that this 24 is relevant to these hearings. There's no motion to 1 reconsider bond.

2 Additionally, as far as -- we're going to 3 have medical testimony on my client's need for a 4 wheelchair. Just briefly, my client did go to a hotel
5 because he's concerned with the LaSalle County 6 Sheriff's Department and the LaSalle County State's 7 Attorney's office, that he does not feel safe in his 8 own home. So before today's proceedings he did go to 9 Jumer's for several days just so he could rest.

10 At that time he did have a wheelchair.
11 Whether the surveillance shows it or not, there was a 12 wheelchair present. Whether he used it or not, I don't 13 know. His assistant --

14 MR. TOWNE: That's a lie, too, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Just a minute. Just let her finish, 16 Counsel.

17 Go ahead.

18 MS. AJSTER: My client, as of July of last year, 19 was prescribed a wheelchair, a walker, a cane, and a 20 motorized scooter. Because of the instability in his 21 back, he's to use them from time to time. So it 22 depends on what the circumstance is.

23 He has radiculopathy in his right leg, which 24 causes him to fall. The doctor prescribed these. So

1 sometimes he uses a cane; sometimes he uses a 2 wheelchair; sometimes he has uses a scooter; sometimes 3 he can ambulate on his own. It just depends on, one, 4 if he feels confident enough that he can walk on his 5 own.

6 Additionally, I've raised this concern
7 before, about medical testimony and HIPAA violations, 8 but my client does take medications. And depending on 9 what medication he is taking, it affects his ability to 10 ambulate on his own.

11 So at certain times, if he's taking 12 medication, he needs the assistance of a wheelchair.
13 Sometimes if he doesn't, he can use a cane. It also 14 depends on how far he is walking.

15 So I don't think it's necessary to say that 16 he was at a casino and he walked independently on his 17 own and then sometimes he uses a wheelchair. But at 18 Jumer's he did have a wheelchair. Whether he used it 19 or not was up to his election. Maybe he felt that he 20 should walk and get a little bit of exercise or 21 whatever. It depends on what medications he's taking 22 and how he feels he's going to be able to ambulate.

23 THE COURT: Any additional response?

24 MR. TOWNE: Simply this, Your Honor. It would

1 seem like the times and circumstances surrounding the 2 need for the wheelchair happen to be the same times and 3 circumstances he's in court.

4 And when Ms. Ajster suggests that she wasn't 5 aware of whether he was in a wheelchair or not at 6 Jumer's, she's on the footage walking with him.

7 So, once again, we have another
8 misrepresentation by counsel, and the video will show 9 all of that. I believe it is completely relevant to 10 this issue. And the Court can sua sponte raise or 11 lower bail any time it wants. There's no need to have 12 motions before the Court to do that. Once the Court 13 sees what was misrepresented to the Court last week, 14 the Court may have a different opinion about a lot of 15 things, including the other motions that we're going to 16 hear today.

17 THE COURT: Well, the matter's before the Court
18 this afternoon on a Motion to Disqualify Defense 19 Counsel and to Appoint a Special Prosecutor, and the 20 Court did raise the bond last week. The Court didn't 21 raise it just because the Court believed that -- that 22 Mr. French was confined to a wheelchair.

23 While the Court has the authority, I suppose, 24 to hear it sua sponte, it would be more appropriate to 1 be done by motion, especially given the fact that this 2 would be the third time we've litigated a bond 3 reduction.

4 There was an investigator who came into my 5 courtroom this morning with an envelope. I was in the 6 middle of a contested hearing, which was followed by 7 another hearing, which was followed by an emergency
8 order of protection. I have not seen it. The envelope 9 is still sealed. I have no idea what's in the 10 envelope.

11 At this point, I am not going to entertain an 12 oral motion to modify the bond conditions because we're 13 here today on the motions with regard to the 14 appointment of a special prosecutor and to disqualify 15 counsel. If the State wants to file a motion that they 16 feel is appropriate, they can do it by written motion, 17 and we can go from there.

18 But right now Mr. French is on bond.
19 He's posted $300,000 of bond, in addition to the fifty 20 that was posted initially on the initial charges and 21 then the subsequent charges. And so at this point the 22 Court is not going to entertain an oral motion to 23 increase the bond reduction. I'm going to hear the 24 motions to appoint special prosecutor and to disqualify

1 defense counsel.

2 So, having said that, are you ready to 3 proceed, Counsel?

4 MR. TOWNE: Your Honor, I would also ask then, in 5 light of that -- I believe that the tapes are relevant 6 with regard to her motion to disqualify, as well, based 7 on the fact that she continually misrepresents things 8 to the Court in this matter. I would also ask, Your 9 Honor, that with regard to the Court's, it would seem, 10 decision to hear these motions together, that,
11 respectfully, I believe that's the inappropriate
12 procedure to -- to -- to follow through with. I 13 believe that the motion to disqualify defense counsel 14 is -- is tantamount -- or it has to be the very first 15 motion that is heard.

16 Basically, what we're talking about here is 17 the defendant's absolute constitutional right to 18 counsel. And if, in fact, there is anything that 19 impinges upon that guaranteed and inherent right that 20 the defendant has, anything that this counsel would say 21 or do regarding any motion of any kind subsequent -- or 22 prior to her disqualification determination is -- is 23 going to have to be relitigated. And there's abundant 24 case law to suggest that all that stuff is relitigated.

1 It's in the Supreme Court Rules. It's in the -- in the 2 Illinois Criminal Code of Procedure, indicating that -- 3 and it's the same thing as if a judge were suggested to 4 be disqualified. We'd have to relitigate everything 5 else after that.

6 THE COURT: So my understanding of your argument
7 is that if I allow both sides to present why each side 8 should be disqualified -- what "everything" has to be 9 relitigated?

10 I mean, are you assuming I'm going to deny
11 it?

12 MR. TOWNE: I'm assuming that if you grant the 13 motion to disqualify counsel --

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. TOWNE: -- we will have to rehear the motion 16 for special prosecutor with a new counsel.

17 THE COURT: Okay. And I don't know that today is 18 going to take -- that's going to add that much time to 19 today. I suppose it's possible under your argument.
20 But where in -- which -- which Supreme Court Rule are 21 you referring to with regard to the fact that I must 22 do --

23 MR. TOWNE: Well --

24 THE COURT: -- your motion --

1 MR. TOWNE: -- there's nothing that says it must 2 be done.

3 THE COURT: So just point -- tell me what you're 4 referring to, as far as --

5 MR. TOWNE: Well, if you look at 725 ILCS 5/114-5, 6 that's for substitution of judge.

7 THE COURT: Right.

8 MR. TOWNE: The concept is the same. The same -- 9 and that is that if there is a -- any kind of conflict 10 situation, the -- the law is clear that anything that 11 happened before that was resolved has to be 12 relitigated.

13 THE COURT: Is there any case that deals with a 14 situation where a defendant is asking for a new 15 prosecutor and a prosecutor's asking for a different 16 defense counsel?

17 MR. TOWNE: Not that we found with that specific 18 set of facts.

19 THE COURT: I didn't, either.

20 Did you find anything, Ms. Ajster?

21 MS. AJSTER: No, Your Honor.

22 THE COURT: The reason the Court elected to do 23 them both at the same time, frankly, is because it 24 seemed fair. Both sides want each other removed. If I

1 do one before the other, depending on the ruling, that 2 could affect whether the second one happens.

3 The evidence -- the arguments for both of 4 them are essentially going to be pretty much the same.
5 Both sides are going to make statements as to why they 6 should stay in and why the other side should get out.

7 I recognize that -- you know, there's a lot 8 of fundamental constitutional issues at play here. We 9 have the fundamental right of Mr. French to have 10 counsel of his choice, with certain exceptions.

11 Mr. Towne holds a constitutional office that 12 is discussed in the constitution. So the State, 13 obviously, has an interest in having an elected 14 official remain in the case.

15 At this point, I'm being asked to choose 16 between two fundamental-type constitutional rights.
17 And I elected, in the exercise of my discretion, since 18 I couldn't find any clear guidance from any cases, that 19 I would do both motions at the same time. And if 20 Mr. Towne is correct and if the Court were to 21 disqualify defense counsel and not disqualify the 22 State, then the worst thing that would happen is we 23 would relitigate the -- a motion to disqualify the 24 State if a subsequent attorney deemed it appropriate.

1 And so with all due respect, I think that the 2 fairer thing is to let both sides make their arguments
3 and then let the Court, based on the research its done
4 and -- and the evidence -- or the arguments it hears, 5 make its decision.

6 I just don't think it's going to delay it 7 that much longer to do both today, as opposed to do one 8 today and then see what happens later.

9 So --

10 MR. TOWNE: One last question then, Your Honor?

11 THE COURT: Yes.

12 MR. TOWNE: If we -- if we're going with 13 hypotheticals, if hypothetically you were to rule that 14 the defense is disqualified in this case and that the 15 State is to be removed for a special prosecutor, then 16 how are -- how am I to relitigate the motion for a 17 special prosecutor? Because you will have, in essence, 18 then removed me from the case already.

19 THE COURT: Well, somebody would be appointed 20 hypothetically. And then wouldn't that person --

21 MR. TOWNE: And then that person's going to file a 22 motion to get me back in the case?

23 THE COURT: Or to reconsider. I don't know.

24 But, as you said, this is -- I'm trying to do

1 what I think's fair to both sides.

2 MR. TOWNE: I understand.

3 THE COURT: I think giving both sides a chance a 4 tell me why they think the other side shouldn't be 5 involved is the fairer way to go. I'm not saying it's 6 perfect; and I'm not telling you I have all the 7 answers, but I'm telling you that I think under the 8 circumstances, it strikes me as the most fair balance.
9 I'm not picking one side over the other. I'm not 10 giving one person the leg-up on the other. I'm going 11 to let both sides speak their piece, and then I'm going 12 to make a ruling.

13 And I understand that there may be some 14 issues that come up, but I've come to expect that.

15 So with all -- with all due respect to both 16 arguments, I -- I think we should proceed on the 17 cross-motions.

18 Since the State filed their initial motion to 19 disqualify first, I'm going to have the State start. I 20 will say for the record that the Court did initially 21 deny the State's Motion to Disqualify Defense Counsel, 22 but that decision was made without prejudice.

23 The State has subsequently filed a 24 supplemental motion to disqualify. But since they did

1 file theirs first and then Ms. Ajster filed her Motion
2 to Appoint a Special Prosecutor second, I thought I'd 3 have the State go first, although I'm going to hear
4 both of them at the same time and I'm going to decide
5 them both. So who goes first is more a matter of form 6 than anything.

7 Yes, Ms. Ajster?

8 MR. AJSTER: I just wanted to point out, Your 9 Honor, just to clarify for the record, my Motion For a 10 Special Prosecutor was filed first. Initially, as the 11 first charges, I, II, and III, there was a motion to 12 disqualify.

13 THE COURT: They filed their initial motion to 14 disqualify you before my hearing on March 6th.

15 MS. AJSTER: Yes.

16 THE COURT: You then filed -- you then filed your 17 Motion to Appoint a Special Prosecutor on April 9th.
18 So just so the record's clear, the State filed its 19 initial motion to disqualify you on January 7, 2015.
20 You then filed your motion to disqualify the State, to 21 get a special prosecutor, on April 9th. And then the 22 State filed their successive motion to disqualify you 23 on April 21st.

24 MS. AJSTER: And that's what I was pointing out,

1 is that we already had a hearing on the first motion to 2 disqualify, and -- which was denied. But they were 3 given leave to -- so it was actually a successive 4 motion to disqualify.

5 I just wanted to make --

6 THE COURT: I don't have a preference who goes 7 first.

8 MS. AJSTER: Okay.

9 THE COURT: I really don't care one way or the 10 other. If you'd prefer to go first, that's fine with 11 me. I just thought that since the State had filed 12 their initial one, but -- but, Ms. Ajster --

13 MS. AJSTER: If they want to go first, I have no 14 problem with either side going first, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Ms. Ajster, you can go ahead. I'll 16 let you go first.

17 MS. AJSTER: Okay.

18 Your Honor, with regard to my motion for a 19 special prosecutor, it has been alleged it's a 20 constitutional right for Mr. Towne as an elected 21 official to prosecute the case. Additionally, my 22 client has a constitutional right to have an unbiased 23 prosecutor in this particular case. People v. Max says 24 the appointment of a special prosecutor is to remove

1 the appearance of impropriety and promote the 2 underlying policy of just and -- and fair and impartial 3 proceedings.

4 In this particular case is there not only an 5 appearance of impropriety, but this case reeks of 6 impropriety. It's not even an appearance of 7 impropriety.

8 What we have here in my motion for a special 9 prosecutor is actually twofold. One, the first 10 argument is that there is a conflict of interest for 11 Mr. Towne and his office to prosecute my client on 12 behalf of the complainant, Jonathan Brandt. That's 13 given the fact that Mr. Towne and Mr. Brandt are 14 friends; that Mr. Brandt, according to what I found, 15 which is attached to my motion, is the single largest 16 donor of campaign funds to Mr. Towne's election 17 campaign. Mr. Brandt, either individually or through 18 Peru Federal Savings Bank, which he is the 19 Vice-President of, donated nearly $6,000 to Mr. Towne's 20 election campaign. In total, Mr. Towne only raised 21 about 103,000, so Mr. Brandt has donated almost $6,000, 22 or six percent, to Mr. Towne's election campaign.

23 Now, there was case law cited by, I believe 24 it was, the -- the State in the case of Baxter versus

1 Peterlin, which is actually a Third District case. And 2 in that particular case, it was raised that there was a 3 conflict of interest based upon a political alliance.

4 Now, in that particular case, the Third 5 District Appellate Court said, "Political alliance may 6 create sufficient conflict of interest to require 7 appointment of a special prosecutor." But in that 8 particular case, the Court didn't expand any further 9 because there was no specific facts. In that case the 10 argument was that the complainant and the State's 11 Attorney were of the same political party.

12 In this particular case, we have actual facts 13 in this particular situation where Mr. Brandt has 14 donated a significant amount of money to Mr. Towne's 15 election campaign.

16 Additionally, my argument is that -- which 17 was attached as Exhibit J to my motion. Additionally, 18 there was Exhibit K, which was a photograph of 19 Mr. Brandt, which I argue would be actively campaigning 20 for Mr. Towne since he's holding some sort of beverage 21 with a "Brian Towne for State's Attorney" can cooler on 22 it, and then also in the picture other people are 23 holding can coolers that say, "Brian Towne for State's 24 Attorney."

So --

THE COURT: Counsel, let me ask you a question. People versus Max, M-a-x -- and the cite on that is 2012 Ill.App.3d 110385 -- indicates that in order for a special prosecutor, the State's Attorney has to be interested in a cause. And it states that a State's Attorney is interested if he is an actual party in the litigation or he is interested in the cause or proceeding as a private individual.

Given the Third District's language in Max, are you -- you're not alleging that Mr. Towne is an actual party to the litigation, correct?

MS. AJSTER: He is not an actual party to the litigation between the People of the State of Illinois versus Danny French. He is a party to Danny French versus Brian Towne and LaSalle County.

THE COURT: Okay. And then my second question is: So is your basis for disqualification that he's interested in the cause or the proceeding as a private individual?

MS. AJSTER: He -- it is not necessarily that he has an interest in the actual litigation. It's that by accepting a significant amount of campaign funds from the complainant, that that puts a conflict of interest.

1 THE COURT: Do you have any case law that 2 discusses the effect of campaign contributions on an 3 individual's impartiality, like a State's Attorney?

4 MS. AJSTER: There is not. The only case where 5 they said about the political affiliation is the case
6 of Baxter, which is a Third District case. And in that 7 particular case they didn't expand, but they said that 8 political alliance may create sufficient conflict of 9 interest to require appointment of a special 10 prosecutor. But in that particular case, again, the 11 petitioner did not specifically plead facts as with 12 regard to that alliance. He just said they're the same 13 political party.

14 So in this particular case, you know, there
15 are sufficient facts that not only is Mr. Brandt a 16 supporter -- a significant financial supporter of 17 Mr. Towne for his elected position, but then he's also 18 an active campaign -- campaigner for Mr. Towne, given 19 the fact that he attends fundraisers; he carries around 20 can coolers, you know, supporting Brian Towne.

21 In addition, I think that that's a 22 significant conflict of interest. If you have an 23 elected official who now is approached by a complainant 24 and instead of saying, you know, you donate a

1 considerable amount of money to my campaign, 2 like you're the biggest campaign contributor to my 3 campaign, and now you're asking me to bring criminal 4 charges on your behalf, I think that gives an 5 appearance of impropriety and an appearance of a 6 potential conflict of interest.

7 THE COURT: But in a county like LaSalle County,
8 where it's -- we're not a huge county. I mean, what do 9 you think -- isn't there a likelihood that many people 10 are going to contribute to one individual or another's 11 campaign without influencing their decisions?

12 MS. AJSTER: There is a difference between, I 13 believe, contributing, as some firms -- if you look at 14 Mr. Towne's complete election campaign fund 15 contributions, there are donations from other firms of 16 $250 here, $250 there. Now, I did look this morning; 17 and as I said, there's significant contributions from 18 Peru Federal Savings Bank.

19 Now, according to the online records for 20 campaign contributions to Mr. Towne, there are only 21 three banks that donated anything to his campaign fund.
22 One was Financial Plus. And I think they donated $100.
23 And then there was the First National Bank of Ottawa, 24 which donated 500. But, again, on the board of 1 directors is Mr. Cantlin and Mr. Reagan, who are also 2 attorneys.

3 So, other than that, in LaSalle County you
4 have, what, several hundred, if not a thousand, banks?
5 And the only bank that donates thousands and thousands 6 of dollars is the one on which Mr. Brandt sits as 7 vice-president?

8 So I understand that in a small community
9 there may be contributions. What I'm saying is that 10 this is not a situation where you have an attorney's 11 office -- or an attorney who donates 250 or $500, 12 that's customary. You have an attorney who is donating 13 almost six percent of the campaign funds. And I think 14 when you go to that extreme and you donate far more 15 than anyone else, it does put you in a position where 16 you may be owed a favor back. Or at least goes to the 17 fact of why is Mr. Brandt donating so much money to 18 Mr. Towne. Is it because they have a relationship, 19 because they're friends? I'm assuming Mr. Brandt is 20 going to testify here today as to their relationship.
21 But --

22 THE COURT: Maybe he just thinks he does a really 23 good job. I mean, the point is we're speculating. We 24 don't know.

1 MS. AJSTER: Well, and that's -- we're speculating 2 because we don't know until he's on the stand and we 3 ask, why would you donate $6,000 to someone? I mean, 4 what is your basis for that?

5 And then as far as Mr. Brandt's concerned, I
6 don't know who else he donates to. I mean, if it's 7 something that he donates $6,000 to numerous state's 8 attorneys or if it's just that he donates $6,000 to 9 Mr. Towne. What other campaigns does he donate to?

10 So I think in that particular instance, there 11 is a conflict of interest.

12 Additionally, with regard to the issue of a 13 special prosecutor with regard to a conflict of 14 interest, Mr. Towne had threatened to file an ARDC
15 complaint against me. Now, sometime ago, in early 16 April, I did -- at the time of my filing for a motion 17 for a special prosecutor, I did contact the ARDC as to 18 a specific rule as a prosecutor and conflict of 19 interest because the conflict of interest rule usually 20 pertains to a private attorney and a conflict with a 21 client. You have a state's attorney. They really 22 don't specifically have a client. They represent the 23 People and the State.

24 THE COURT: That was going to be my next question,

1 too. He doesn't represent Mr. Brandt; he represents 2 the People.

3 MS. AJSTER: The People.

4 And so I had a concern about that as to 5 whether 1.7 would pertain to a prosecutor.

6 When I contacted the ARDC for guidance on 7 that specific rule, I was instructed that in order for 8 it to be misconduct, it doesn't have to violate a 9 specific rule. And at their request I did send my 10 motion for a special prosecutor to the ARDC. And,
11 again, this was subsequent to my initial filing. But I
12 would enter in support of that Defendant's Exhibits L
13 and M, which are copies of letters that I received back 14 from the Attorney Registration and Disciplinary 15 Commission regarding my request for investigation of 16 Brian Towne as far as a potential conflict of interest.

17 MR. STICKA: Your Honor, if I could just ask one 18 question.

19 She has just tendered me a couple documents.
20 One of them appears to be all blacked out. Is the one
21 tendered to the Court all blacked out?

22 THE COURT: Yes, it's redacted.

23 Ms. Ajster, what is the point of your 24 tendering Exhibits L and M? Just to say that you made

1 a complaint?

2 MS. AJSTER: No. The point is, is that I had made 3 a complaint to the ARDC. They responded initially with 4 the April 16th letter, saying they've received my 5 communication and that they've initiated an inquiry.

6 Then subsequent to that, I provided them
7 additional documentation. And the basis of my 8 complaint was a conflict of interest, the fact that 9 Mr. Towne is prosecuting a case on behalf of his 10 number-one campaign contributor.

11 Now, the redacted letter of April 29th, I 12 blacked out information that was not with regard to 13 Mr. Towne. And it says, we've received your 14 correspondence, and that they -- they've asked 15 Mr. Towne to respond to the limited issue as to whether 16 or not there's a conflict of interest for him to 17 prosecute cases where the alleged victim is a campaign 18 contributor. However, we've agreed to hold off your 19 investigation on that limited issue until there's a 20 court ruling on the motion for a special prosecutor.

21 So I have made the argument that it is a 22 conflict of interest for Mr. Towne to prosecute my 23 client based upon the complaint of Jonathan Brandt and 24 his allegations of a phone harassment or a harassing

1 phone call.

2 And to substantiate my argument of a conflict
3 of interest, I'm now presenting the Court with 4 documentation that it's not only me that thinks there 5 may be a conflict of interest --

6 MR. STICKA: I'm going to object to that, Your 7 Honor. That's not what the letter says. She's pretty 8 rapidly speculating --

9 THE COURT: Let me stop everybody for a minute.

10 Okay. First of all, are you asking that 11 these correspondences be admitted into the record?

12 MS. AJSTER: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: And is the State objecting to these 14 documents?

15 MR. STICKA: The State is. I think they're 16 irrelevant, and I don't really think they say anything.
17 I think she's, with all due respect, somewhat drawing 18 inferences regarding the state of mind of the ARDC, 19 which I think is inappropriate.

20 THE COURT: I don't -- I don't know that this 21 letter draws the inference that you are, Ms. Ajster, 22 that they're waiting until I make my decision to do
23 their investigation. I am not privy to how the ARDC 24 conducts their business, but I don't believe that even

1 having an investigation without more is an indication 2 of wrongful conduct.

3 So I don't know that these letters add
4 anything to what you've already said, which is, I
5 talked to the ARDC and I made a report.

6 MS. AJSTER: Well, it does go farther than that, 7 Your Honor, because when I make a complaint as an 8 officer of the court who has a Himmel obligation and I 9 send a request for a conflict of interest, if they 10 believe there's nothing there based upon what I've 11 presented to them --

12 MR. STICKA: I'm going to object to this, as well, 13 Your Honor, on the basis that she's apparently getting 14 into prior complaints she's made to the ARDC and trying 15 to draw parallels between prior complaints and an ARDC
16 response letter in this complaint and trying to draw 17 inferences, and I have think it's the same thing.

18 THE COURT: Let me focus the case this way. I am 19 not here today to determine whether or not Mr. Towne or 20 anyone in his office violated an ethical rule of the 21 Attorney Registration and Discipline Commission.
22 Whatever that agency does is going to happen after 23 today's ruling.

24 What I want to focus on is the statute, which

1 is 55 ILCS 5/3-9008, which deals with the appointment
2 of a special prosecutor and the case law interpreting 3 that. And all of the things of the ARDC to me are sort 4 of a side issue. My decision today has to be whether 5 the State's Attorney is interested in this case so that 6 he should no longer be allowed to prosecute the case,
7 not whether he violated ethics and not whether he did a 8 lot of other things.

9 Now, the mere fact that someone's made a 10 complaint is not evidence that someone's got a conflict 11 of interest or has an ethical violation. That's my 12 concern with these letters.

13 I'm going to -- I'm not going to consider 14 these letters. I'm going to deny their admission 15 because -- partly because they're hearsay and there's 16 no one here to talk about it, but partly because 17 they're not dispositive to the issue that this Court 18 has to decide. And I want to keep it above those 19 issues. I just want to focus on the merits of the 20 motion.

21 So, Counsel, I didn't mean to distract you
22 before. You can continue with your argument.

23 MS. AJSTER: No. And just to go back to Exhibits 24 L and M, I understand the Court's ruling, but my

1 argument, just to clarify, would be that they are 2 records kept in the ordinary course of business that 3 would be between the ARDC and attorneys.

4 THE COURT: Not redacted.

5 MS. AJSTER: No. And if --

6 THE COURT: But my point is they're not necessary 7 for me --

8 MS. AJSTER: And --

9 THE COURT: -- to make my decision today.

10 MS. AJSTER: And I am not saying to the Court that 11 the Court has to rule on as to whether or not Mr. Towne 12 has violated -- violated any specific rule or rule of 13 professional conduct. What I'm arguing is that it 14 appears that there's a conflict of interest or a 15 potential for a conflict of interest, and that based 16 upon that, I did file a request for the ARDC, and the 17 ARDC did ask Mr. Towne to respond. Because my argument 18 for a special prosecutor is twofold: One, that there's 19 a conflict of interest for Mr. Towne to prosecute a 20 case on behalf of Jonathan Brandt as campaign
21 contributor, and then, secondly, as -- as Your Honor 22 had mentioned, the statute, 55 ILCS 5/3-9008. And the 23 basis of that is when a State's Attorney is interested 24 in any cause or proceeding, civil or criminal, which

1 may make -- may be his duty to prosecute or defend, the 2 Court in which said cause or proceeding is pending may 3 appoint some competent attorney to prosecute or defend 4 such a case or proceeding.

5 In this particular case, my argument is that 6 Mr. Towne has been sued by my client. There is a 7 federal lawsuit pending in the -- in the Northern -- 8 or -- Northern District of the Federal Court.
9 Mr. Towne is a named defendant in that civil rights 10 suit.

11 My client -- the basis of that federal civil 12 rights suit is false arrest and malicious prosecution 13 with regard to this particular case. That lawsuit is 14 the result of Mr. Towne not only bringing the charges 15 against my client but continuing to prosecute the case 16 in light of evidence or lack thereof.

17 THE COURT: Is it your position that your client's 18 decision to file a federal lawsuit against Mr. Towne 19 requires that he be removed as the prosecutor on the 20 case?

21 MS. AJSTER: Yes.

22 THE COURT: If that were taken as true, and if the 23 Court were to take that to its logical extreme, 24 wouldn't the Court's decision be inviting every

1 defendant who decided they were mad at the State's 2 Attorney to file a federal lawsuit so that they could 3 get a new State's Attorney?

4 MS. AJSTER: No. Because --

5 THE COURT: Why not?

6 MS. AJSTER: Because in order to file a federal 7 lawsuit, there has to be some evidence of false arrest, 8 malicious prosecution, or some civil rights violation.

9 THE COURT: There has to be allegations.

10 MS. AJSTER: Well, as far as a federal lawsuit 11 goes, and in this particular case, as an officer of the 12 court, I file a federal lawsuit, and I attest that the 13 facts contained therein are true and that I will -- and 14 that they're -- it's a meritorious claim. If I file a 15 federal lawsuit and it is determined that that case is 16 frivolous, then the defendants have a cause of action 17 against me as the attorney of record for attorney's 18 fees.

19 THE COURT: Has a decision been made whether the 20 federal lawsuit's frivolous yet?

21 MS. AJSTER: No.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MS. AJSTER: So -- it could potentially if you had 24 a defendant -- every defendant then file a federal

1 lawsuit. But then it could be dismissed. But in this 2 particular case --

3 THE COURT: But then the Court would be having 4 special prosecutors all over the state. Even if the 5 case were subsequently found to be frivolous, it 6 wouldn't change the fact that constitutionally like, 7 you know, officeholders were now being taken out of 8 cases because defendants decided to file federal 9 lawsuits.

10 MS. AJSTER: I understand --

11 THE COURT: That's a concern.

12 MS. AJSTER: It is a concern. But as far as this 13 particular case and this particular motion, I don't 14 think the Court can concern itself of what other 15 defendants will do. I think the concern is, in this 16 particular case, involving this particular defendant 17 and this particular state's attorney, Mr. French and 18 I filed on his behalf a federal lawsuit. And attached 19 to that lawsuit, I attest that the facts are contained 20 therein. If it was a frivolous lawsuit, I am 21 subjecting myself to liability for attorney's fees in 22 federal court because federal court is not like state 23 court where each party pays their own attorney's fees.
24 The prevailing party is entitled to attorney's fees.

1 So if I file a frivolous lawsuit and it's dismissed,
2 then I'm on the hook for the attorney's fees.

3 So in this particular case, there's been no
4 determination that the case was frivolous. It's 5 actually -- I filed it. It's meritorious. It's based 6 upon actual facts. It's not something where it's just 7 we, you know, think it's a malicious prosecution. It's 8 based on the fact that Mr. Towne had police officers 9 testify at the Grand Jury, and based upon that 10 testimony, my client was indicted, and the testimony is 11 alleged to have been false. Now, that false testimony 12 is based upon a simple reading of the incident report.
13 You have a police officer testifying in August to the 14 Grand Jury that there's this tape out there and the 15 voice on the tape is Dan French, but nobody has ever 16 said that. And it wasn't until December, four months 17 later, that somebody -- Mr. Brandt then decides that he 18 recognizes in December that the voice that he heard in 19 July was Dan French's.

20 So, in this particular case, you have -- we 21 can't speculate as to the merit of the case. It's a 22 federally filed lawsuit. Mr. Towne is a defendant to 23 that lawsuit. He is now under the statute an 24 interested party in the criminal proceeding because

1 Mr. French's damages in the federal lawsuit are based 2 upon the criminal case pending here.

3 If it's a case where the -- Mr. French is 4 found not guilty or the charges are later dismissed, 5 then his damages increase. So Mr. Towne has an 6 interest in continuing the litigation, in the 7 prosecution of my client, in the absence of any 8 evidence. Or he's -- he's biased now because it's to 9 his benefit to continue to prosecute my client.

10 THE COURT: But wasn't that a condition precedent 11 that you yourself caused by filing the federal lawsuit?

12 MS. AJSTER: No.

13 THE COURT: In other words, if your argument is 14 that he now has to continue with the litigation in 15 state court because if he doesn't, it will affect the 16 federal suit, wasn't your filing of the federal suit -- 17 assuming everything else you said is true, is the 18 catalyst for him now deciding to continue to go 19 forward, even if --

20 MS. AJSTER: No. Prior to my filing of the 21 federal lawsuit, I had sent a letter to the State's 22 Attorney's office explaining to them the issue with the 23 charge against my client and the fact that there is no
24 evidence. Because at that particular time, at the time

1 of my filing of my federal lawsuit, there was Counts I,
2 II, and III. And at that particular time, the only 3 evidence that the State, by their own admission, had 4 was a tape recording of some voicemail. And my 5 argument was this voicemail was not entered into 6 evidence until three days later. So you have a chain 7 of custody issue.

8 So I went through all the facts and evidence.
9 And I said to the State's Attorney's office, you filed 10 these counts against my client, I and II. And then 11 they tacked on, by their own admission, a Count III for 12 the sole purpose of disqualifying me as Mr. French's 13 attorney. When that didn't work, I gave them the 14 opportunity to re-evaluate, now that they had the 15 evidence. And my federal lawsuit was filed after I 16 received discovery from the State and saw that they 17 were lacking the evidence they needed to, one, first 18 charge my client, and then, two, to continue to 19 prosecute my client. I sent them a letter explaining 20 that and said, here's the situation. If you continue 21 to prosecute, I will have to file a federal lawsuit for 22 malicious prosecution and false arrest.

23 THE COURT: My only question about that is: Don't 24 most -- I mean, are you suggesting that if a criminal

1 defense attorney sent the State a letter that says, you 2 should dismiss the charges because you're wrong, and 3 they don't do it, that that somehow gives rise to a 4 federal lawsuit or then there's a potential conflict?
5 Because my concern is, is that while I accept -- I read 6 your letter because it was part of your motion. I've 7 read all the attachments. But basically isn't your 8 argument that because they didn't do what you asked 9 them to do, they were sued in federal court, and now, 10 because I've sued them in federal court, they can't be 11 a prosecutor anymore?

12 MS. AJSTER: No. My letter was, based upon lack 13 of evidence, you should dismiss the case. It's not me
14 saying, dismiss them or I'm going to sue them.

15 THE COURT: No --

16 MS. AJSTER: It's, you don't have --

17 THE COURT: -- I understand, but, obviously --

18 MS. AJSTER: -- any basis to continue prosecuting 19 my client.

20 THE COURT: But, obviously, the State felt they 21 had a basis because they filed charges. And my 22 question to you is -- and it's more, I suppose, 23 esoteric, but -- you know, I guess I'm trying to 24 understand how a defense counsel's request that a

1 prosecutor dismiss charges because of a defendant's 2 belief that they're unfounded can give rise to the 3 litigation that supports the prosecutor's removal from 4 the case.

5 MS. AJSTER: It doesn't give rise to that. The 6 federal lawsuit is independent of the letter. It was a 7 situation where my client has a cause of action in 8 federal court for false arrest. At this point in time, 9 he's willing to forego that if the case is dismissed.
10 The case is not dismissed, so then he's going 11 to proceed against -- whether they dismissed the 12 charges or not, my client could have still proceeded 13 with his federal lawsuit.

14 THE COURT: And your client has the right as an 15 American to file suits that he feels are meritorious.
16 But I guess -- my point is, so does the State.

17 MS. AJSTER: They do. But in this particular 18 case, the facts that we have are that my client --

19 THE COURT: And I don't want to argue the facts 20 because that will be the trial.

21 MS. AJSTER: No. No.

22 THE COURT: But my point is more -- it's a little 23 bit above that, which is the mere request that the 24 State dismiss charges and then the subsequent filing of 1 a federal suit you believe is sufficient for the State

2 to have a conflict that prevents them from going 3 forward on the case.

4 MS. AJSTER: No. It's a situation where,
5 independent of the federal lawsuit, my client had a 6 right to file it, and it's filed.

7 THE COURT: Right. He has a right to file it.

8 MS. AJSTER: And so we are now in a situation 9 where -- it wasn't a situation where the federal 10 lawsuit was filed for the purpose of dismissing the 11 State's Attorney and asking for a special prosecutor.
12 The case was filed because my client believes -- and 13 I also believe -- that the charges were false, and the 14 prosecution of him is malicious. So he filed a federal 15 lawsuit.

16 Where we're at today is we have a prosecutor 17 prosecuting my client, and my client has a federal 18 lawsuit against the prosecutor. We can't speculate as 19 to what other defendants may do, is this a tool, is it 20 a tactic. We have to look at on its face that 21 Mr. French filed a federal lawsuit. It -- on its face 22 it appears to be meritorious. There's no allegation 23 that it's not. There's been no motion to dismiss the 24 federal lawsuit by Mr. Towne or his attorneys.

1 So at this particular case -- at this 2 particular point in time, we have a prosecutor
3 prosecuting a defendant and the defendant having a 4 federal lawsuit pending against the prosecutor, which 5 then puts Mr. Towne in a position where under the 6 statute he is interested in a cause or proceeding 7 because his interest and the outcome of the criminal 8 charges against my client directly affect the damages 9 in the federal lawsuit.

10 THE COURT: Okay. And we've gone over this a bit 11 now, and I don't mean to keep rehashing the same 12 ground --

13 MS. AJSTER: No.

14 THE COURT: -- so why don't we move -- because I 15 do understand your argument there.

16 MS. AJSTER: Yeah. And then additionally -- and 17 then additionally, I just wanted to point out, as well, 18 is that the statute and the case law, People v. Max -- 19 that my client has a right to be prosecuted by a fair 20 and impartial and unbiased prosecutor. And proof in 21 point is that when my client was in custody on May 7th, 22 I contacted the State's Attorney's office numerous 23 times to have a bond hearing. They did not respond. I 24 personally went to the State's Attorney's office and

1 spoke to Jeremiah Adams and asked him if they would be 2 willing to come down and present -- and appear before 3 Your Honor at an emergency bond hearing. And the 4 response to me was, since you sued us --

5 MR. STICKA: I'm going to object to this. I
6 thinks it's really irrelevant.

7 THE COURT: Well --

8 MR. STICKA: And it's -- with all due respect, the 9 State appeared at an emergency motion wherein the two 10 counsel who are sitting at the table today were in the 11 middle of an attempted murder trial.

12 THE COURT: And that is true.

13 MS. AJSTER: It is.

14 THE COURT: And, as I said, I don't want to get 15 into the merits of the complaints back and forth. I 16 want to focus on the allegations that are necessary
17 under the statute. Okay?

18 MS. AJSTER: And it's a situation where clearly 19 now they have a bias towards my client because of the 20 federal lawsuit. Because if they say, well, you sued 21 us and now we're not cooperating, or, we're not 22 agreeing to anything, that clearly shows that they have 23 some bias towards my client now, which is going to 24 affect the prosecution of the case.

1 So my motion for a special prosecutor is 2 twofold: One, that there is a conflict of interest, 3 and then, two, that now that Mr. Towne is -- 4 whether the Court deems it's legitimate or not, it is a 5 situation where he is a party to a federal lawsuit and 6 now has a direct interest in the outcome of the 7 criminal proceedings. Because the outcome of the 8 criminal proceedings are going to go directly to my 9 client's damages as part of the federal lawsuit.

10 And that's why I would request that a motion
11 to disqualify the State's Attorney and a motion for a 12 special prosecutor is, under the case law, to remove 13 the appearance of impropriety. And in this particular 14 case, I don't think anybody can argue that there's not 15 an appearance of impropriety. When you -- I mean, it 16 raises the question, you know, does it appear to be 17 inappropriate? And it does. If you have the State's 18 Attorney prosecuting a criminal case on behalf of his 19 number-one campaign contributor, that raises a question
20 of impropriety. And then additionally, when you have a 21 State's Attorney continue to prosecute a case when he's 22 a defendant to a federal lawsuit brought by the 23 defendant, that again creates an appearance of 24 impropriety. And it's not necessarily that the Court

1 needs to find that there is a direct conflict of 2 interest or that under -- that he violating the 3 statute. It's, is there an appearance of impropriety?
4 And if there is, then my client is entitled to have a 5 fair and unbiased prosecutor.

6 Thank you.

7 THE COURT: Thank you.

8 State.

9 MR. STICKA: Thank you, Your Honor.

10 I'd like to start, Your Honor, if I could, by 11 first addressing a couple of the things that Ms. Ajster 12 indicated, a couple things which I believe are -- are 13 not accurate.

14 If Your Honor looks at Count I in the 15 indictment, it was returned by the LaSalle County Grand 16 Jury on December 30, 2014. Ms. Ajster had made a 17 representation regarding something that was said to the 18 Grand Jury back in August. That was not the day that 19 Mr. French was indicted. He was indicted on 12/30, 20 2014.

21 So she clearly must be referring to some type 22 of Grand Jury subpoena or other proceeding, rather than 23 the indictment proceeding. And by 12/30 of 2014, 24 Jonathan Brandt had provided a statement to the Peru

1 Police Department indicating recognition of the caller.

2 A second thing that I would like to 3 correct -- and Ms. Ajster has said this now in a couple 4 of different hearings, but she also said it today -- 5 that Count III was tacked on for the purpose of 6 disqualification of her. And that also is false. And 7 she does not have any documentation reflecting that.
8 What she has is an e-mail from Assistant State's 9 Attorney Jeremiah Adams, who indicates that there was a 10 third count tacked on. That word was used. There was 11 never any admission or representation or anything that 12 even could be construed from the State's Attorney's 13 office as indicating that a Count III was tacked on for 14 the purpose of disqualification of her.

15 Count III was added because we have a LaSalle
16 County Sheriff's Department deputy who has written a 17 report regarding him being threatened. And that's what 18 Count III is about.

19 Now, Ms. Ajster also indicated towards the 20 very end of her argument that, in general, there has 21 been a lack of cooperation of the State's Attorney's 22 office. And I guess her best evidence of that was when 23 she came down here when her client got arrested on a 24 warrant that he had been out on for three weeks, and

1 she felt it was an emergency that a motion to reduce 2 bond be heard immediately.

3 When the two counsel who are sitting at the 4 table today, with all due respect, were in the middle 5 of an attempt murder trial, I think it was pretty 6 cooperative, with all due respect to the State's 7 Attorney's office, on two hours' notice to make 8 available to the Court one of our felony assistants, 9 that being Jeremiah Adams.

10 So if that's her best evidence regarding the 11 lack of cooperation and animosity of the State's 12 Attorney's office, that's not much.

13 And now I'll get into the crux of my 14 argument. The motion for appointment of the special 15 prosecutor. I would argue to the -- the Court that 16 Ms. Ajster essentially has two prongs to her argument.

17 The first prong deals with the campaign 18 donation. And, Your Honor, this case has already been 19 mentioned, the People versus Max case, 2012 Ill.App.3d 20 110385. I believe the cite is already in the record.

21 With that particular case, the defendant
22 sought a special prosecutor. There had been a 23 thousand-dollar donation by the victim in the case to 24 the State's Attorney's campaign fund. The Court ruled

1 that the donation to the State's Attorney's campaign 2 fund -- it didn't meet the defendant's burden to 3 establish the appearance of impropriety or justify 4 appointment of a special prosecutor. Mere suspicion or 5 speculation doesn't do it. Mere donation to the 6 State's Attorney campaign fund does not meet the 7 burden.

8 And as far as what I heard here today from 9 Ms. Ajster, with all due respect, a picture of Jonathan 10 Brandt holding a can coozie that said, "Elect Brian 11 Towne," she used that in the same paragraph that she 12 talked about the Baxter case and talked -- and used the 13 phrase, "political alliance." With all due respect, 14 somebody sitting with a can cooler that says, "Elect 15 Brian Towne," are we -- are we really arguing to this 16 Court that that constitutes some type of political 17 alliance as was contemplated under the Baxter case?

18 In a nutshell, State's Attorney Brian Towne, 19 under the Max case and the criteria that was talked 20 about in the Max case -- the State's Attorney, Brian 21 Towne, is not an actual party to the litigation as is 22 contemplated by the Max case. And with all due 23 respect, the State's Attorney does not have any 24 individual interest in this.

1 Now, Ms. Ajster brought up a couple of other
2 things. She indicated that there were campaign
3 contributions from Peru Fed and that there was another
4 bank, Financial Plus, and that there was a third bank.
5 And I don't even remember the third bank, but -- I 6 would say this: Peru Fed and Financial Plus happen to 7 also be Brian Towne's banks.

8 And, also, with respect to Mr. Brandt, the 9 records are what the records are. Mr. Brandt was 10 involved in fundraisers. So he was involved in 11 fundraisers for State's Attorney Towne. And it's my 12 understanding that the situation was some checks were 13 made out directly to Brandt by other donors, and then 14 Brandt cut further checks.

15 So I believe that the 6,000-dollar figure, 16 which with all due respect, for the sake of argument,
17 only represents six percent of campaign funds, 18 roughly -- if you give Ms. Ajster the math, it's only 19 six percent. And as Your -- as Your Honor indicated, 20 as the Court indicated during the colloquy with 21 Ms. Ajster, in a small community it's not uncommon for 22 lawyers to donate to a campaign fund.

23 I don't believe that there's been anything
24 shown here beyond the mere fact that a campaign

1 contribution was made. There's been a hint at 2 political alliance, but the only thing that she's 3 mentioned is this picture with the can coozie, and 4 they're friends, and --

5 I don't think this is the type of evidence 6 that was suggested by the Max case which rises to 7 giving the State's Attorney an individual interest in 8 the case.

9 Now I'm going to talk about the second prong 10 of her argument, her argument that Mr. Towne is an 11 interested party now due to a federal lawsuit that 12 Mr. French chose to file against the State's Attorney's 13 office, Peru Police Department, and the sheriff's 14 department.

15 This particular federal lawsuit, Your Honor, 16 does not make Mr. Towne a party to the criminal case.
17 There's no magical transformation which takes place
18 which suddenly makes Mr. Towne an interested party or a 19 party -- an actual party in the criminal case.

20 The federal lawsuit, with all due respect, is 21 a collateral myth. It's a collateral lawsuit. And I 22 would point out the defendant is the one who chose to 23 file this federal lawsuit. That lawsuit, to correct
24 the record here, is just filed. There's been no

1 finding that the suit has any merit whatsoever. In 2 fact, to my knowledge, there's been very little 3 activity with the suit. It was fairly recently filed.
4 I don't think the Court can draw any conclusions. It's 5 a filed lawsuit. That's what it is. It doesn't make 6 him a party to the criminal case.

7 Moreover, the mere filing of a civil lawsuit,
8 it doesn't change the ethical obligations of a 9 prosecutor. The ethical obligations which I'm talking 10 about are to seek justice and not merely conviction in 11 a case.

12 With all due respect, the obligation of the 13 LaSalle County State's Attorney's office with respect 14 to handling the criminal prosecution of Mr. Danny 15 French, those obligations were the same the day prior 16 to the filing of the federal lawsuit as they did -- as 17 they are the day after the filing of the federal 18 lawsuit. It doesn't change. There's still those 19 ethical obligations. There's still those rules that 20 have to be followed. And those are set by Supreme 21 Court Rule, the ARDC, case law. Those are set by all 22 of those things.

23 I would argue to the Court that the argument
24 that Ms. Ajster is making seems to be that if you file

1 a federal lawsuit, you automatically get a new 2 prosecutor. And while she doesn't want you to take 3 that into account, I think you have to. That's the 4 rule that is being sought here. And with all due
5 respect, there's just no basis for that. There's no 6 grounds for that.

7 There has been no determination that the 8 federal lawsuit is frivolous. Yet. The case is just 9 getting going.

10 You can't -- the defendant filed this 11 lawsuit, and they're arguing that that creates the 12 conflict. With all due respect, the federal lawsuit is 13 a collateral matter, and it doesn't change the ethical 14 obligations of the prosecutor.

15 There was one case, an additional case, that 16 I don't believe has been mentioned in this proceeding 17 thus far, the Arrington case, which the State cited at 18 297 Ill.App.3d 1. And in that particular case, which 19 the State noted in its response, the defendant alleged 20 that the Winnebago County State's Attorney, Paul Logli, 21 L-o-g-l-i, was interested in a robbery case because 22 Mr. Logli's cousins owned the store that the defendant 23 allegedly robbed. And the defendant alleged that 24 Mr. Logli's interests lay in the fear that an acquittal

1 would allow the defendant to sue the store and perhaps 2 recover damages for injuries he suffered during a 3 struggle during the commission of the robbery. And the 4 reason the State looked to that case is it's the 5 closest parallel that we found to something involving a 6 secondary or collateral lawsuit.

7 And in that particular case, the Court found 8 that the trial court did not abuse its discretion in 9 denying the motion for appointment of a special 10 prosecutor.

11 So on the two grounds that Ms. Ajster has 12 cited, the first prong of the argument, I would argue 13 to this Court that -- she has indicated that Mr. Brandt 14 was a campaign donor to Mr. Towne's campaign, and she 15 hasn't shown anything else. There's been nothing else 16 shown. She's alleged that they're friends. And she's 17 shown us a picture of Mr. Brandt drinking from a can 18 coozie that says, "Elect Brian Towne." That's it.
19 That's all.

20 Mere suspicion or speculation does not meet 21 the standard.

22 Mr. Towne is not an actual party to the 23 criminal litigation. And there's been nothing alleged 24 here that I can see that indicates he has any type of 1 individual personal interest.

2 And then the second prong of the argument
3 with respect to the federal lawsuit, it's a collateral 4 issue, doesn't make him a party to the criminal case, 5 doesn't change the ethical obligations of prosecutors
6 to seek justice and not merely convictions.

7 And I don't think the Court can endorse a 8 rule that says, if you file a federal lawsuit, you 9 automatically get to bounce the prosecutor.

10 And I'm not so sure, especially in the 11 unusual circumstances in this case -- Ms. Ajster seems 12 to argue that, you know, the possibility of sanctions 13 and the assessment of attorney's fees is enough to 14 deter the filing of frivolous lawsuits. I don't know.
15 I think that's open for the sake of argument.

16 All you have here with respect to the federal 17 lawsuit, Your Honor, at this point in time, are 18 allegations. And that's it.

19 So, Your Honor, I would respectfully request 20 that this Court deny the motion for appointment of a 21 special prosecutor based on the arguments made and also 22 based on the State's written response that was filed.

23 And I thank you.

24 THE COURT: Thank you.

1 Your response.

2 MS. AJSTER: Thank you, Your Honor.

3 I'm going to try and speed this up.

4 In this particular case, Mr. Brandt had 5 contacted the Peru Police Department and said he 6 received a harassing phone call. There was an 7 investigation.

8 In August of 2014, Mr. Towne presented to the 9 grand jury for the purposes of getting a subpoena.
10 During that is when he elicited false testimony from a 11 police officer that said that this alleged recording 12 was that of Mr. French, although at that time no one 13 had said it.

14 At that point in time, they get cell phone 15 records based upon the subpoena in October, which 16 showed no correlation between Mr. French's phone and 17 Mr. Brandt's phone. So you have zero evidence of any 18 phone calls placed between Mr. French and Mr. Brandt.

19 Then you fast-forward to December, when 20 Mr. Brandt realizes, after his client at the time had 21 his assets seized as a result of my doing an un- -- 22 unrelated small claims case -- on that same day he 23 contacts the Peru Police and says, now I recognize the 24 voice on my tape recording from July of being that of 1 Dan French's from October.

2 So right there it's highly suspect as to the 3 timing of this sudden realization that you now 4 recognize this -- this voicemail.

5 So based upon that, in December of 2014 -- I
6 believe it was December 17th -- the LaSalle County 7 State's Attorney's office issued a warrant for my 8 client's arrest based upon one felony count of phone 9 harassment and one count of misdemeanor phone 10 harassment.

11 Subsequent to that, my client on 12 December 23rd, I believe -- he turned himself in once 13 he learned of the warrant.

14 On December 23rd I send a letter to the 15 State's Attorney's office as to Counts I and II, and I 16 advise them that I am going to be representing 17 Mr. French, that I'm entering my appearance, and I give 18 them the whole back story as to how Mr. Brandt 19 conveniently realizes in December, after his client has 20 his assets seized and now he's extremely upset at me -- 21 that now he recognizes Mr. French's voice from July as 22 being that when he talked to him back in October.

23 Based upon that, I send a letter, thinking 24 maybe they didn't understand the facts fully; I'll give

1 them a little bit more information.

2 Then the next thing I receive is January 7th,
3 which is an e-mail, which is Exhibit C, from Mr. Adams, 4 that says: We received your entry of appearance and 5 motion for Danny's case. I'm attaching a written 6 objection to your appearance in this matter. Quote, we 7 tacked on another count for threatening a public 8 official from September.

9 Now, first of all, to say, "We tacked on 10 another count," you're talking about a felony count
11 against someone for threatening a public official. I 12 think it needs a little bit more deference than, we 13 just tacked on another one. And it's the timing.
14 December 23rd I say I'm going to be entering my 15 appearance. I enter my appearance, they get it, and 16 they say, well, now we tacked on another count, you're 17 a witness to this count, so now we're going to do a 18 motion to disqualify you.

19 So that's the time -- the timing of this,
20 which is suspect in and of itself because they talk 21 about my client on a completely unrelated matter from 22 September. Now, if in September my client had actually 23 threatened LaSalle County Deputy Hollenbeck, I think 24 that in September my client would have been charged

1 with threatening --

2 MR. STICKA: I'm going to object to -- I'm going 3 to object to this. I mean, it deals with speculation.
4 It's a felony. There's a three-year statute of 5 limitations on a felony. There's all kinds of things 6 that go on with respect to felony investigations and 7 allegations. With all due respect, this is just mere 8 speculation.

9 THE COURT: I'm going to sustain the objection
10 only because I'm not here today to try the criminal 11 case. And I understand the point you're making, which 12 is to show the chain of events. But I don't want to 13 spend a lot of time going into the details because, 14 frankly, that will eventually be decided by a jury.

15 I -- I've read through your motion. I am 16 aware of the timeline that you've identified. I'd like 17 to keep it kind of focused on the "when" as opposed to 18 all the details because I've heard all the details in 19 your original argument. And this is really just a 20 rebuttal to what they've said.

21 MS. AJSTER: And so if -- you're looking at the 22 timing. So my argument would be that they keep adding 23 additional charges for the sole purpose of 24 disqualifying me, because after the motion to

1 disqualify me the first time was denied, they then 2 added five more counts against my client. And now the 3 same motion, she's a witness again.

4 THE COURT: We're going to hear that motion in a 5 minute.

6 MS. AJSTER: And so as far as the allegations with 7 regard to the relationship between Mr. Towne and 8 Mr. Brandt, no one -- Mr. Towne, Mr. Brandt, or 9 Mr. Sticka -- has denied the fact that Mr. Towne and 10 Mr. Brandt are friends. I've said that they're 11 friends, but nobody has testified that they're not.
12 And if they weren't friends, I would assume that 13 somebody would jump on the stand and say, we're not 14 friends; we don't talk to each other; we --

15 MR. STICKA: I'm going to object.

16 MS. AJSTER: -- don't have any -- any 17 relationship.

18 MR. STICKA: Your Honor, with all due respect, I'm 19 going to object. She's speculating on how the State is 20 going to put on its case or how it should put on its 21 case or what she would do, and it's completely 22 irrelevant.

23 THE COURT: Sustained. I mean, I guess -- are you
24 making an argument that the State's Attorney can't know

1 anybody who's a victim in a case?

2 MS. AJSTER: No. I don't that's the situation, 3 because we do live in a small community, that you can't 4 know anybody. But I do believe there's a difference 5 between knowing someone and being a friend with 6 someone.

7 THE COURT: Okay. And that will probably be 8 something that I imagine we'll hear about at the trial.
9 Okay. But, I understand your point. And I -- I mean, 10 I really don't want to belabor it too much because we 11 do have another whole motion to argue.

12 MS. AJSTER: I understand.

13 And so -- and then, additionally, the State 14 has argued that my client has done something wrong in 15 filing a federal lawsuit, and they're claiming that the 16 purpose of the federal lawsuit is to disqualify the 17 State's Attorney. But it's the State's Attorney who 18 created the facts that led to -- to the federal 19 lawsuit.

20 So it's not a situation where, you know, by 21 their allegation my client has created this by filing a 22 federal lawsuit. The federal lawsuit is based upon the 23 actions of the State's Attorney.

24 So in this particular case, my -- my argument

1 is still that -- and just to back up a minute, my 2 client is entitled to a fair and unbiased prosecutor.
3 We have to remove the appearance of impropriety. And 4 in this particular case, even by the State's own 5 actions in this case of filing continuous charge after 6 charge after charge against my client, following him to 7 the extreme of having investigators follow him to 8 casinos and talk to people who have been to Las Vegas 9 with him, in what other case have they done that? Or 10 in what other case where the charge is an alleged 11 harassing voicemail have they gone to such extreme and 12 spent such resources? I don't believe that there's 13 another one out there. I mean, they wouldn't put this 14 much resources into a murder case, much less an alleged 15 phone harassment telephone call.

16 So I think their actions in this particular 17 case are speaking extremely loud in showing their bias 18 towards my client, in addition to the numerous increase 19 of bond, increase of bond, increase of bond. I mean --

20 MR. STICKA: Once again, Your Honor, I'm going to 21 object to how the State -- or her analysis of how the 22 State conducts a prosecution and how she thinks it 23 should be done or how she would do it. It's really 24 irrelevant.

1 THE COURT: Well, I'm going to overrule that 2 objection, only to the extent that her argument is that 3 the State has shown a bias to Mr. French by acting in a 4 way that he (sic) doesn't to other people. And it's -- 5 it's relevant, but I don't -- it's not really 6 responsive to what they argued, but a little bit. So 7 I'm going to give you that little bit of latitude, but 8 I don't, like I said, want to belabor this too much.

9 MS. AJSTER: And then, again, getting back to the 10 argument of the political alliance is that it's not a 11 situation where Mr. Brandt casually donates to a 12 State's Attorney here or a State's Attorney there.
13 We're talking about a significant amount of money. No 14 other person or entity in LaSalle County donated as 15 much money as Mr. Brandt.

16 And then the State's Attorney kind of alluded 17 to something which may open up a whole 'nother can of 18 worms, that there was only three banks that have 19 donated to Mr. Towne's campaign. One is Peru Federal 20 Savings Bank. One is First Federal, which they donated 21 $500. And the other one donated $100, which was 22 Financial Plus. And the argument is that First Federal 23 and Peru Federal are Mr. Towne's banks.

24 So that leads me to the question of: If Peru

1 Federal is Mr. Towne's bank and the Vice-President who 2 approves loans and financing and things like that is 3 Mr. Brandt, what relationship do they have, in addition 4 to their personal friendship, as far -- as far as 5 business transactions? Because if Mr. Towne is banking 6 at a bank and Mr. Brandt is making decisions as far as 7 maybe a home loan or a mortgage or a car, I mean, does 8 that create another instance -- and I didn't realize 9 that until Mr. Sticka mentioned that Peru Federal is 10 Mr. Towne's bank. So -- without going into that, 11 because, again, it's the appearance of impropriety.
12 It's not -- and we can get -- you know, it's not a case 13 where we're going to have a trial as to the 14 relationship. It's, is there enough already presented 15 that creates the appearance of impropriety? And the 16 argument is -- and the answer is "yes". You have a 17 situation where you have the complainant, who is 18 friends -- because it has not been denied that they are 19 not friends -- is friends with his number-one campaign 20 contributor and brought a criminal case on behalf of 21 that person. And then this criminal case on behalf of 22 his friend has escalated into something that's 23 completely unusual, and there's no other criminal case 24 in LaSalle County or one that's ever been prosecuted by

1 Mr. Towne to the same extent.

2 So in this particular case, you have the 3 relationship between the complainant and Mr. Towne
4 which rises and creates suspicion. Then you
5 additionally have Mr. Towne as a party to a federal 6 lawsuit, which, again, he should not under the statute 7 be -- which makes him an interested party now.

8 Now, granted, he's not a party to the 9 criminal case, but he's now a party to a federal civil 10 case based upon the criminal case and his actions in 11 the criminal case.

12 And so I think for all interested parties -- 13 and I don't understand what the interest in continuing 14 to prosecute a case such as this is other than it is 15 personal. And to remove that appearance of 16 impropriety, I think, is the only option, and the 17 motion for a special prosecutor must be granted.

18 THE COURT: Thank you.

19 All right. The second motion is the Motion
20 to Disqualify Defense Counsel.

21 Mr. Sticka, will you be arguing that?

22 MR. STICKA: I will, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: All right. Are you ready to proceed?

24 MR. STICKA: Sure.

1 THE COURT: Let me ask this. We've been here for 2 an hour. Does anybody need a break?

3 MR. STICKA: Can I just get a quick glass of 4 water?

5 THE COURT: Why don't we take five minutes 6 because -- I want to get this done this afternoon, but 7 I also realize that we have been in here for over an 8 hour.

9 So why don't we take five minutes, and we'll 10 come back and start on your motion.

11 (Break taken.)

12 THE COURT: Let the record show we are back in 13 court on People of the State of Illinois versus Danny 14 French, 2014-CF-528.

15 The record should show the State is present
16 by Mr. Towne and Mr. Sticka. Mr. French is personally 17 present. He's accompanied with his attorney, Julie 18 Ajster.

19 We've just completed the arguments on 20 the request for a special prosecutor. We're now going 21 to commence the arguments on the State's Motion to 22 Disqualify Defense Counsel.

23 Counsel, you may proceed when you're ready.

24 MR. STICKA: Thank you, Your Honor.

1 "If Attorney Ajster were to be a necessary
2 witness, she would only be a witness as to Count III, 3 and not Counts I and II. Therefore, any 4 disqualification because of lawyer as witness would 5 only pertain to Count III."

6 Your Honor, that is an excerpt taken from a
7 response filed on January 27, 2015, by Attorney 8 Julie Ajster in this case. It was part of the Response 9 to Motion to Disqualify.

10 And the reason I bring that up is I'm not 11 quite sure how it is possible to reconcile that, 12 indicating to this Court that you're only a witness as 13 to Count III and not Counts I and II, in light of the 14 March 16, 2015, letter that Ms. Ajster wrote to 15 Assistant State's Attorney Jeremiah Adams.

16 And the next parts of my argument I'm 17 actually going to be arguing from that March 16, 2015, 18 letter, which is actually already part of the record in 19 this case. Ms. Ajster had filed it -- filed it as an 20 attachment to her motion to appoint special prosecutor.
21 It's dated March 16, 2015, addressed to the State's 22 Attorney's office, and addressed specifically to 23 Assistant State's Attorney Jeremiah Adams.

24 THE COURT: And for the record, that is Exhibit D

1 to the motion you've referenced.

2 Go ahead, Counsel.

3 MR. STICKA: Okay.

4 Regarding Count I of the indictment, Your 5 Honor, with respect to assertions that Ms. Ajster makes 6 in the March 16, 2015, letter, as they pertain to 7 Count I of the indictment, harassment by telephone, a 8 Class 4 felony count, alleging harassment of the 9 victim, being Jonathan Brandt, B-r-a-n-d-t, in the 10 March 16, 2015, letter, Ms. Ajster indicates that 11 Mr. French, her client, did not know about the lawsuit, 12 being the lawsuit that Mr. Brandt filed on behalf of a 13 client against Mr. French -- Ms. Ajster indicates that 14 Mr. French did not know about the lawsuit until after 15 she, Ms. Ajster, told him about it.

16 And Ms. Ajster claimed in that letter that 17 this occurred after the threatening phone call to 18 Mr. Brandt had already been placed.

19 Now, I bring this up, Your Honor, for this 20 reason: If true, this would be information tending to 21 negate the defendant's motive and/or animosity toward 22 Mr. Brandt. The second prong from the March 16, 2015, 23 letter, regarding Count I, and probably the most 24 important that I would draw to the Court's attention

1 on, regarding the time frame of the call that was 2 placed to Mr. Brandt, Ms. Ajster claims in the 3 March 16th letter that she was with Mr. French, that 4 she took him to a doctor's appointment, then filled his 5 prescriptions, and then Mr. French then took a Xanax 6 and a Valium and was -- and, quote, was sleeping or 7 more accurately sedated during the time frame in which 8 the calls were placed.

9 Now, Your Honor, I would argue to this Court
10 that this is tantamount to an alibi defense.

11 Ms. Ajster, the lawyer, is saying that Mr. French was 12 asleep, or more properly the term being -- or more 13 accurately sedated during the time frames of the calls, 14 the inference being, therefore, he could not have made 15 the calls.

16 And I would argue to the Court that there is 17 simply no way that any competent defense lawyer would 18 not put this evidence on at trial.

19 THE COURT: Let me interrupt you and ask you the 20 questions -- one of the questions that is in my mind.

21 Let's assume everything that you've just 22 argued is true and that she would not be able to 23 testify. The Rule of Professional Conduct dealing with 24 lawyer as a witness, Rule 3.7, states that a lawyer

1 shall not act as an advocate at a trial in which the 2 lawyer is likely to be a necessary witness unless -- 3 and then there are three exceptions.

4 My specific question to you is: Should she 5 be excluded from the case now even though we're not at 6 trial? Because the rule specifically says, "at trial."
7 And I'm interested to know your take on the rule.

8 MR. STICKA: And my take on it, Your Honor, is, 9 yes, she should be excluded now.

10 THE COURT: And why?

11 MR. STICKA: For multiple reasons.

12 One of the first things is the People versus 13 Rivera case, because in that particular case, the 14 lawyer was disqualified -- it was a motion to suppress 15 hearing where the lawyer basically went to the police 16 department during the early stages of the 17 investigation; there was contact between client, 18 lawyer, and police; and during that contact, there was 19 issues as to whether the police -- whether there was a 20 demand -- a right to remain silent, whether Miranda was 21 properly done. The lawyer was there.

22 At such point in time as there are contested 23 motions in a case and the lawyer has to appear as a 24 witness, I believe based on the Rivera case that

1 indicates that this applies during contested hearings.

2 You're correct; the term "trial" is used.

3 THE COURT: Okay. Let me ask you another question 4 then, because you've actually dovetailed into the 5 question I wanted to ask.

6 Rule 3.7 of the Rules of Professional Conduct 7 was amended in -- effective January 1, 2010. And prior 8 to January 1, 2010, the rule provided that -- a lawyer
9 who is going to be a witness at a hearing. But then it 10 got changed to "trial".

11 The Rivera case, which -- was decided in 12 2013, after the amendment, but it was based on the rule 13 that existed before the amendment. And so my question 14 to you is: Do you believe that it still applies to any 15 contested hearing even though Rivera was being decided 16 under the old form of the rule?

17 MR. STICKA: It is my contention that it would 18 apply at any contested hearing because the -- the 19 spirit and scope of the rule, Your Honor, with all due 20 respect, is that a lawyer can't act as advocate and 21 counsel at the same proceeding.

22 And further on in my argument, I actually 23 have some argument for you regarding the fact that this 24 has already taken place in this case. And I have some

1 specific examples that I'm going to cite to the Court 2 with respect to that.

3 I think at -- at a contested hearing, where 4 there are contested issues and a lawyer is testifying 5 regarded -- regarding a contested issue and it's not 6 about just payment of services or the other exceptions
7 to the rule -- I think it implicates the constitutional 8 rights of the defendant because this is about effective 9 representation of a -- of a defendant. And I believe 10 that there are certain reasons why specifically in this 11 particular case -- and I'll get into this a little bit
12 later in my argument, as well -- as to why Ms. Ajster 13 has real problems in this case.

14 THE COURT: And just so the record's clear, under 15 Rule 3.7 as -- as it existed at the time that the 16 Rivera case was decided, it states that a lawyer shall 17 not accept or continue employment in contemplated or 18 pending litigation if the lawyer knows or reasonably 19 should know that the lawyer may be called as a witness 20 on behalf of the client. And then it has the 21 exceptions.

22 And so that was the way it was decided under 23 Rivera.

24 Now the statute talks about trial. You've

1 explained to me the difference. But I want the record
2 to be clear that Rivera was decided under the old form
3 of the Rule of Professional Conduct.

4 My research did not disclose any cases
5 decided under the new rule. Did the State find any 6 cases under the new rule?

7 MR. STICKA: No, Your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Okay. Then -- I just wanted to bring 9 that -- go ahead with your argument then.

10 MR. STICKA: Okay.

11 Still focusing on Count I, I've made the 12 argument about why Ms. Ajster is a witness as to 13 motive, and negating motive if what she says is true in 14 the letter.

15 Number two, I've talked about Ms. Ajster
16 providing what I would argue to the Court is tantamount 17 to an alibi defense.

18 I'm still on Count I. Ms. Ajster claims in 19 the March 16th letter to have seen Mr. Brandt drive by 20 her house during this time frame. And based on the 21 context of that letter, it appears to me that she is 22 indicating that -- or making an attempt or insinuating 23 at an attempt to discredit Mr. Brandt or attribute some 24 type of improper motive to him with respect to the

1 statements that he made and asking for charges in this 2 particular case.

3 And, finally, Your Honor, in the March 16th
4 letter, Ms. Ajster makes a comment regarding it not 5 being true that Mr. French was agitated the night of 6 the card game. And without getting into specifics 7 about the card game, the State will be arguing that at 8 this particular card game and to the subjects -- to 9 some of the subjects in the card game that there were 10 certain statements that were made which were somewhat 11 incriminating. And, in fact, Ms. Ajster indicates that 12 Mr. French had his medication. She had filled the 13 prescription and had the records, and that discredits a 14 witness, according to her, named Michael Venturelli, 15 V-e-n-t-u-r-e-l-l-i. Ms. Ajster indicated that 16 Mr. French was not agitated the night of the card game 17 and he did have his medication.

18 So all of those four prongs, I would argue to 19 the Court, go to Count I and show that she is, in fact,
20 a necessary witness as to Count I, the most important 21 being the provision of that -- what I will call an 22 alibi defense.

23 Now, these are all assertions from her
24 March 16th letter. This was a letter to the State ten

1 days after the March 6th hearing. At the March 6th
2 hearing, the issue that this Court heard was whether 3 she would be disqualified. And I understand and will 4 say to this Court that the State focused on Count III
5 at that particular hearing. That was the basis. But 6 that was the knowledge that the State had at the time.

7 And I'm going to use a term that Ms. Ajster 8 has used today and in other court proceedings. She 9 always indicates, "as an officer of the court." "As an 10 officer of the court."

11 Well, with all due respect, Your Honor, at 12 the March 6th hearing, if this Court is conducting a 13 proceeding into whether she should be quali- -- 14 disqualified as defense counsel and if she has 15 knowledge that she's a witness with regard to the other 16 counts, as an officer of the court, I think that should 17 have been relayed to the court.

18 What she was doing the night of the alleged 19 phone calls to Mr. Brandt she's known since that night, 20 which was well before the March 6th hearing.

21 And the reason I bring this up, Your Honor,
22 is I understand that this is a successive motion, but I 23 would argue to the Court that this Court ruled on 24 March 6th without knowing all of the facts.

1 That is the crux of my argument. And the 2 Court should have had these facts available to it when 3 it was ruling on Ms. Ajster's disqualification.

4 Now I'm going to talk about Count II. These 5 are the phone calls, the phone harassment, the 6 misdemeanor count, allegedly to Mr. Brandt's secretary.
7 The interesting thing is for these particular calls, 8 phone records come back to (815) 878-5312. Or show
9 calls from that number to Brandt's office. The reason 10 I bring that up, that number's going to come up 11 following in my argument, as well.

12 In the March 16th letter, that phone number, 13 (815) 878-5312 -- Ms. Ajster indicates in that letter 14 that that phone number's registered to Julie Ajster.
15 She indicates that this phone belongs to the Ajster Law 16 Office.

17 Your Honor, who had possession of this phone?
18 Who had access to this phone at the time the calls were 19 made on Count II? There's no way that's not a key 20 issue in this case.

21 And since, to my knowledge, Ms. Ajster is the 22 Ajster Law Office -- to my knowledge, I'm not aware of 23 any other lawyers there. I'm not 100-percent sure 24 about that, but that's my understanding. That

1 testimony comes from her. Who had access to her 2 phones?

3 And that, Your Honor, is a situation where 4 she may be compelled to provide testimony adverse to 5 her client, which raises a whole host of other issues.

6 And just to consider a corollary, if 7 Ms. Ajster is going to say that she made those calls, 8 then she's absolutely a necessary witness.

9 Let's talk a little bit about Count III, the 10 threat to the officer.

11 Once again, it involves Phone Number
12 (815) 878-5312, a phone, by the March 16th letter, 13 which is registered to the Ajster Law Office. She 14 indicates that.

15 Moreover, with respect to this Count III,
16 Ms. Ajster claims to have been present during the call, 17 would therefore know who the deputy was speaking to, 18 who had the phone, once again, who had access to the 19 phone. It's a phone that's registered to her -- her 20 law office.

21 And Ms. Ajster also makes a claim in the 22 March 16th letter regarding the Caller ID and how it 23 read that day when the deputy called. All of those 24 factors with respect to Count III, I would argue to 1 Your Honor, make her a necessary witness on Count III.

2 Now I'm going to talk about the Brett King
3 counts. And for speeding this up, I'm going to lump 4 those together.

5 Your Honor, with respect to the Brett King
6 counts -- and if you'll recall, as part of the motion 7 to reduce bail, there was an affidavit attached. And 8 that affidavit in the motion to reduce bail details a 9 conversation that Ms. Ajster claims to have had with 10 Brett King. Brett King is the victim on what I'm 11 calling the Brett King counts. That affidavit is part 12 of the record.

13 In fact, if you recall, this was an affidavit
14 which at one point in time the State had filed a motion 15 to strike it due to it not being notarized. That's the 16 affidavit that I'm referring to.

17 THE COURT: And for the record, I believe it's 18 Exhibit G.

19 MR. STICKA: Yeah.

20 And that affidavit has since been notarized.
21 And if Your Honor -- I'm not going to go through 22 everything on that affidavit, but I am going to say 23 this: If that affidavit is true -- because with all 24 due respect, these cases, like so many criminal cases,

1 to a large degree hinge on credibility. And with 2 respect to that affidavit, with some of the things that 3 Brett King will testify to, there is no seasoned
4 defense lawyer that would not want to call Ms. Ajster
5 to try to somehow discredit Mr. King. And that 6 affidavit is part of the record. She is a necessary
7 witness as to the Brett King counts.

8 Now, I'm going to move on. I'm going to talk
9 about the new count. Last week when we were in court, 10 the State filed -- I believe it's Count IX. It's a 11 misdemeanor count, the victim being a man named Andrew 12 Biewer, B-i-e-w-e-r. Again, phone communication coming 13 from (815) 878-5312, that phone that Ms. Ajster 14 indicated in her March 16th letter is registered to her 15 law firm.

16 And this I find fascinating. Last week at 17 the hearing, the State filed this count, Count IX. And 18 I'm going to the transcript from the proceedings last 19 week, because within just minutes of when this Count IX
20 was filed in this particular case, Ms. Ajster says
21 this. And this was -- just to give you some context, 22 Mr. Towne had asked for some bond conditions. And this 23 is what Ms. Ajster says. "I would object to that.
24 Mr. Biewer has an 8,000-dollar Ranger of mine sitting

1 in his garage, which I attempted to get last week, 2 which was the reason for him coming up with these 3 allegations. And then, additionally, he tried to break 4 into my storage facility. So I would like to at least 5 get my property back from him. I can do that with a 6 LaSalle County Sheriff's deputy and perhaps a K-9 dog 7 so they can search his premises."

8 And what I'm getting at, Your Honor, and why
9 I'm looking at that is, with respect to this Count IX, 10 in a matter of ten minutes in this hearing, or 15
11 minutes probably, from when Count IX was filed, 12 Ms. Ajster indicates that this property dispute about 13 the Ranger was the reason for him coming up with these 14 allegations.

15 She is already touching and scratching at the 16 surface of becoming a witness on Count IX.

17 I would respectfully argue to this Court that 18 she is a witness with respect to Counts I through IX.
19 She is intertwined with this case at a level that is 20 simply unparalleled.

21 In terms of evaluating a case, how is she 22 going to properly evaluate a case, properly advise him, 23 when weighing the evidence in these cases, Your Honor?
24 Because she's intertwined with each and every count, it

1 involves determining her own credibility and how well 2 she'll do.

3 This issue is a problem, is ongoing, and has 4 to be dealt with. And, frankly, the way this is 5 setting up, what are we going to wait for? Are we 6 going to wait till the first day of trial when we start 7 calling witnesses before Ms. Ajster realizes that she's 8 got a real problem here and she's a witness?

9 In the Rivera case, which is 2013 IL 112467, 10 it was alleged that the defendant, present with his 11 attorney at the police station, asserted his right to 12 remain silent, asserted he did not want to be 13 questioned, that he was subsequently questioned and 14 made statements in violation of Edwards versus Arizona.
15 Defense counsel was a witness with respect to the 16 pretrial suppression hearing on the defendant's 17 statements. The Court disqualified him. After the 18 hearing on the motion to suppress, the defense made an 19 argument that the lawyer should not be disqualified for 20 representation at the trial because the issue was done.
21 And the State alleged that there existed a possibility 22 that the lawyer would be a witness at the trial.

23 Your Honor, this was a pretrial suppression 24 issue, and the Court properly disqualified defense

1 counsel.

2 I would argue that in this case, you have 3 before you Ms. Ajster, who is a witness, who is going 4 to -- to some degree, based on the assertions that she 5 has made, she's going to be testifying, and her 6 testimony is going to be analyzed in terms of the 7 ultimate issues of the trial, not merely a motion to 8 suppress.

9 I would argue that this case, in terms of her 10 being intertwined with the case, is much more 11 significant than you saw, than the pretrial suppression
12 issue in Rivera, where it was found that the Court 13 properly exercised its discretion. In this particular 14 case she has portrayed herself as an alibi witness.

15 Balanced against the defendant's Sixth 16 Amendment right to counsel of choice, which is an 17 important right, the Courts have an independent
18 interest in ensuring that criminal trials are conducted
19 within the ethical standards of the profession and that 20 their judgments remain intact on appeal.

21 And while the right to select and be 22 represented by one's preferred attorney is comprehended 23 by the Sixth Amendment, the essential aim of the 24 amendment is to guarantee an effective advocate for

1 each criminal defendant, rather than to ensure the 2 defendant will be inexorably represented by the lawyer 3 whom he prefers.

4 And that's Wheat, W-h-e-a-t, versus United 5 States, 486 US 153.

6 Another case, People versus Koen, K-o-e-n, 7 2014 Ill.App. 112082. Mr. Koen collected rents from 8 the tenants of a building. Mr. Koen was not the owner 9 of the building. His son, an attorney, also had 10 involvement with the tenants. The State alleged that 11 the son, the attorney, was a necessary witness, and the 12 Court found that Mr. Koen Jr.'s involvement in the 13 events surrounding this matter was sufficient, that he 14 reasonably should have known he would likely be called 15 as a witness. He was disqualified.

16 And, once again, I would argue that 17 Ms. Ajster is much more intertwined with this case than 18 either of those prior two cases where the Court -- it 19 was found that the Court properly exercised its 20 discretion in granting a motion to disqualify.

21 THE COURT: And just so it's clear, the Koen case 22 to which you referred was also decided under the old 23 Rule 3.7, correct?

24 MR. STICKA: I believe that to be true.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. STICKA: Yeah.

3 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead.

4 MR. STICKA: Now, Your Honor, prior to trial, this 5 lawyer as witness has already been an issue in this 6 case. It is an issue and already has been an issue.
7 And I'm going to bring something up, and I'll try to be 8 brief with it. But at the last court proceeding, in 9 the motion revisiting the bail -- and there's a reason 10 why I'm bringing this up -- we have a defendant that 11 within the last three weeks, or roughly the last three 12 weeks, Counsel had obtained a waiver to proceed in his 13 absence from him. Within a relatively short time frame 14 of that, on Thursday, May 7, 2015, according to the 15 police report -- according to testimony that you heard 16 at the hearing last week, Ms. Ajster claimed in a 911
17 call he had not been taking his medication. You heard 18 evidence and argument regarding a form of barricade to 19 the door at his residence. Pretty much uncontroverted 20 testimony that the defendant had locked himself in a 21 gun safe.

22 Then the accounts started to diverge a little 23 bit. But you had argument that he had made threats to 24 shoot the police and file lawsuits. He claimed the

1 devil got ahold of him. But then you have testimony
2 from Mr. French. You have diverting testimony at that 3 point in time.

4 But the reason I bring this up is this 5 reason: There have been defense lawyers on a lot less 6 evidence than that who have filed a motion to have 7 their client evaluated for fitness.

8 Now, with respect to a fitness hearing, the 9 Court can ask for it. The State can ask for it under 10 the statute. And so can the defendant. But for 11 practical purposes, it's usually the defense. For this 12 reason: The defense counsel is the one who 13 communicates with the defendant and has access to him.

14 Now, this is not normal behavior, locking 15 yourself in a gun safe, barricading the door, not 16 taking your medication, talking about the devil getting 17 ahold of you. That is now in the record in this case.
18 And the reason I bring this up is this. Ms. Ajster 19 lives with the defendant. He is her boyfriend. She 20 saw his behavior. She is, once again, a witness 21 regarding the issue of fitness.

22 Now, the State hasn't filed a fitness motion.
23 We think -- I didn't think that there was a reason to 24 do so with the pending motion to disqualify. However,

1 once again, if there are continued proceedings in this 2 case, it is a hot ticket item for the Appellate Court.
3 And it is in front of the Court that this incident
4 occurred. This is a mental-health-type incident, 5 rather than a physical incident. And with the 6 assertions that were made by Ms. Ajster, going to the 7 hospital -- the doctor at the hospital evaluates people 8 to see if they're in immediate danger to themselves (sic) 9 or others. That's not a fitness evaluation. Those are 10 two different things. And with respect to this, the 11 next logical step in this case, if the defense doesn't 12 do it, the State may be put in a position to have to 13 file a motion for fitness because if the Appellate 14 Court finds that there should have been a fitness 15 evaluation, everything starts all over again, and we do 16 everything twice. And the position that Ms. Ajster is 17 in -- and, frankly, it's an awkward position because -- 18 it would be an awkward position to have to contemplate
19 filing a fitness evaluation with respect to a defendant 20 that is your boyfriend. And I think that that's a 21 concern.

22 Now, another concern. In criminal trials and 23 even in criminal motions, the State almost always files
24 a motion to exclude witnesses in a case. That is a

1 whole 'nother can of worms. And with respect to this,
2 Your Honor, prior to trial, this has already been an 3 issue. Last week at the motion to increase -- the 4 motion to revisit bail, or whatever you want to call 5 it, once again I'm going to go to the transcript to 6 give an example of this.

7 Ms. Ajster: Yes. With regard to the bond in 8 these additional -- so contrary to what Mr. Towne
9 has alleged about my client assaulting police
10 officers, spitting at them, flailing his arms 11 around, that did not occur. It's not contained in 12 Deputy Winner's report. Deputy Winner's concern at 13 the time was that my client receive medical 14 treatment.

15 Now, at the time that Mr. French was taken to 16 the hospital, it was for a condition for his low 17 back, which his doctor had faxed a note for him to 18 be evaluated.

19 Additionally, his blood pressure, which was 20 taken by me, was extremely high that night. He was 21 extremely agitated and not being able to speak
22 coherently. So for that concern, I had called 23 emergency medical personnel to come to the house and 24 treat him, which they did. Subsequent to once he

1 was at the hospital, he was signed in on the 24-hour
2 involuntary hold just because of his mental status.

3 Mr. Towne: Your Honor, I'm going to 4 object at this point in time. Once again -- and 5 this has been an issue through this entire case -- 6 Ms. Ajster is now a witness in the case, and she's 7 not under oath up there testifying, but she's 8 telling you the whole story.

9 The Court: What's your response? Because I
10 think that point is well-taken.

11 Ms. Ajster: If you want to put me under oath, 12 I can testify.

13 The Court: I don't want anyone under oath, 14 but --

15 Ms. Ajster: I will tell under oath as to what 16 was there since I am a witness to this.

17 I'm talking about the proceeding which, with 18 all due respect -- and I just know the similar facts to 19 what the Court knows and what the Court heard last week
20 and what's in those police reports about this issue.
21 But we have a defendant in front of this Court who 22 locked himself in a safe, barricaded the door, and, 23 with all due respect, made comments about the devil and 24 somehow -- I think you may have a bona fide fitness

1 issue. And if it's determined that there is, with all 2 due respect, the next -- the next issue in this case is 3 that. Because if that fitness issue is not resolved 4 and other hearings are made -- and this is where we get 5 into other interests, such as the Court and the State 6 for criminal cases to go through ethically, be 7 conducted professionally, and, with all due respect, in 8 the event that convictions are obtained, convictions do 9 stick and not just come back. And Ms. Ajster is in a 10 trick bag. It is hard to think of a case where the 11 defense lawyer, if it's appropriate, had to contemplate 12 a fitness motion with respect to her boyfriend. Or 13 girlfriend. It's awkward.

14 And with all due respect, how I started this 15 argument about the assertions that Ms. Ajster made to 16 the Court regarding only being a witness on Count III,
17 she's not a witness on Counts I and II -- the reason I 18 started this that way was because the only one that can 19 communicate with Mr. French is Ms. Ajster. And when 20 there has been suspect -- I will use the word 21 "suspect" -- communications to the Court, such as what 22 was not disclosed by her during the March 6th hearing, 23 which was, we later found out, in the March 16th 24 letter, I don't know that her word as an officer of the

1 court regarding her client's fitness is going to cut
2 it.

3 Now -- and here's another issue. And I kind
4 of -- and I'll end on this point. In all criminal 5 cases, typically an offer is made. Can that offer -- 6 can she legitimately convey the merits of that offer 7 when her client, husband, fiance, boyfriend, whatever 8 he is, would then be jeopardizing potential damages in 9 the federal lawsuit, assuming that the State hasn't 10 been dismissed out by that point, while also being 11 frivolous?

12 There are all kinds of issues. And I think 13 these issues are why the lawyer-as-advocate rule comes 14 into play. And with all due respect, these issues are 15 imminent. They are coming up in the upcoming motions.
16 They are imminent. That fitness thing that the State 17 talks about, that is a great deal of concern for us.

18 These issues are imminent, and that's why the 19 motion to disqualify, with all due respect, should be 20 granted now.

21 THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel.

22 MS. AJSTER: Your Honor --

23 THE COURT: Response?

24 MS. AJSTER: Yes.

1 Just to point out, as Your -- Your Honor
2 already has, Rule 3.7 says a lawyer shall not act as 3 advocate at trial, the operative word being "trial".
4 We are not at trial. And we're nowhere near a trial 5 with regard to this case as additional counts were just 6 added last week.

7 There is a trial date set for July. But I
8 assume that that's not going to be going, or at least 9 I'll be filing a motion to continue that, given the 10 fact that every time we appear there's additional 11 charges.

12 So with regard to the issue of lawyer as 13 witness at trial, the allegations that I may be a 14 witness at trial are premature at best. And it's 15 actually twofold. My client has a constitutional right 16 under the Sixth and Fourteenth Amendments to counsel of 17 choice. And I am his counsel of choice. At this 18 particular time, as I said -- stated at the previous 19 motion, I represent Mr. French in numerous lawsuits, as 20 a plaintiff, as a defendant. I am his only attorney 21 and the only attorney he's had for 13 years, in 22 addition to his attorney that was co-counsel on his 23 worker's compensation case.

24 So he has a constitutional right. The right

1 is so substantial that the case law, as previously
2 stated at the prior hearing under Insurance Company
3 versus City of Chicago, which is 268 Ill.App.3d 289, 4 attorney disqualification is a drastic measure which 5 Courts should employ as a last resort because 6 disqualification motions can be misused for the purpose 7 of harassment.

8 Now, if anything sums up this particular 9 case, it's this. Because I think my client has been 10 charged now with nine counts, and six of those have 11 been brought for the purpose of disqualifying me as his 12 attorney. Because after they're filed, there's an 13 immediate motion to disqualify me as his attorney.

14 Additionally, under the Klehm case, which is 15 363 Ill.App.3d 373, since disqualification serves to 16 destroy the attorney-client relationship by preventing 17 a party from freely retaining counsel of his choice, it 18 is regarded as a drastic measure that Courts should 19 only apply when absolutely necessary.

20 Then there's other case law talking about how 21 it has to be a necessary witness, not a potential 22 witness.

23 And then, again, there's the People versus 24 Montville case, which is 393 Ill. 590, where it says,

1 the right to counsel is guaranteed by the Sixth and 2 Fourteenth Amendments of the federal constitution.

3 He has a right to be represented by his 4 counsel of choice. The right is -- is so significant 5 that under Illinois Supreme Court Rule 306, if defense 6 counsel is disqualified, if I were disqualified, I
7 could take an interlocutory appeal, because his right
8 is so significant. Because it is his constitutional 9 right to have counsel of choice.

10 THE COURT: But you do acknowledge it's not 11 absolute.

12 MS. AJSTER: It is not absolute.

13 THE COURT: It is significant but not absolute.

14 MS. AJSTER: It's significant.

15 And deference should be given to my client's 16 choice of counsel.

17 Now, the Rivera cases, again, were prior to 18 the amendment of -- when it pertained to lawyer at 19 hearing.

20 Now, again, going back to lawyer as witness
21 at trial, so even if I were to be a witness at trial, 22 it says, "A lawyer cannot be the witness at trial 23 unless." So there's always an exception to the rule.
24 So I'm not even a witness, but if I were a witness,

1 there's an exclusion, under three, disqualification of 2 the lawyer would work substantial hardship on the 3 client.

4 And as I argued previously, I believe that it 5 would create a financial hardship on my client, but 6 more importantly, an emotional hardship on my client, 7 as I am the only attorney that he trusts that handles
8 any of his cases. I think it's obvious that my client 9 has a significant distrust of lawyers altogether. And 10 to establish an attorney-client relationship that's 11 been in the process for 13 years and then ask him on a 12 whim to then trust an attorney to represent him on nine 13 criminal counts, I think, would create a substantial 14 hardship to him in his -- his, I guess, emotional 15 health because now you're taking away his right to 16 counsel of choice and forcing him to now establish an 17 attorney-client relationship with another attorney, 18 which I don't think would be able to be -- be done. I 19 mean, I just don't think he would have it. And it's a 20 situation where if I'm disqualified -- I represented 21 Mr. French years ago in another criminal matter. I was 22 disqualified not because of a lawyer as witness but 23 because I was representing his co-counsel, as well. In 24 that particular case, he continued pro se, because

1 without me as his attorney, he refused to hire another 2 attorney and continued pro se.

3 In this particular case, Mr. French is 4 probably -- and I would -- he's already expressed to 5 me that if I'm disqualified, he is going to proceed pro 6 se.

7 THE COURT: But that's -- that would be his 8 choice.

9 MS. AJSTER: It would be his choice. But I think 10 it would create a hardship to him, as he is not an 11 attorney. He's not well-versed in the law.

12 THE COURT: Counsel, do you -- let me cut to the 13 chase on the argument.

14 Do you believe that if the trial started on 15 Monday, you would be able to represent Mr. French in 16 the trial?

17 MS. AJSTER: Yes. And I don't believe that the 18 case is going to start to trial on Monday. And that's 19 my argument, too. We are so far away from trial.

20 THE COURT: But my point -- what I'm first trying 21 to establish with you is whether you believe there is a 22 conflict under Rule 3.7 that would prevent you from 23 being his attorney at trial if we started trial.

24 MS. AJSTER: No, because there's nine charges

1 pending. Those nine charges are not going to be tried 2 together.

3 Under the case of People versus Board,
4 B-o-a-n-d -- it's -- I don't have the citation to it.
5 But in that particular case, charges to be brought 6 together for purposes of trial have to be similar in 7 nature, involve the same parties. And here we have 8 nine counts involving five alleged victims, four 9 separate circumstances.

10 So just to break them down, we have Counts I 11 and II that are dealing with Jonathan Brandt and Laura 12 White. We have Count III, which deals with Deputy 13 Hollenbeck. We have Counts IV through VIII, which deal
14 with Brett King. And we now have a Count IX that deals 15 with Andrew Biewer. I don't think these are all going 16 to be tried together. We're looking at four separate 17 trials.

18 THE COURT: So what if we just look at the first 19 three?

20 MS. AJSTER: Okay. So let's look at the first --

21 THE COURT: Well, however you phrase it. If you 22 want to say "II" and "I" or however, but are you a 23 necessary witness --

24 MS. AJSTER: No.

1 THE COURT: -- for trial?

2 MS. AJSTER: And here is why.

3 As to Count I, the State alleges because I
4 know facts, that then I am a necessary witness. What I 5 know can also be proved at trial independent of my 6 testimony. Okay?

7 They claim that I'm going to testify that on 8 July 24, 2014, my client was at a doctor's appointment.
9 Mr. French can testify that he was at a doctor's 10 appointment. His doctor can testify that he was at a 11 doctor's appointment. The medical records will 12 evidence that he was at a doctor's appointment and the 13 date and the time and what time he left. I don't need 14 to testify, and I'm not a necessary witness to show 15 that he was at the doctor's office.

16 THE COURT: If you weren't representing him and 17 another person possessed the information you have, 18 would you want that person to testify to corroborate 19 his statements?

20 MS. AJSTER: No, because I think it's 21 self-evident. If -- if you -- I mean, as far as me
22 testifying that he was at a doctor's appointment, I 23 think the best evidence would be the doctor.

24 THE COURT: Let's ask -- let me ask this: Your

1 letter says that he could not have the made the calls 2 because he was unaware that he'd been served because I 3 didn't tell him until after the alleged incident. If 4 he were to testify, I didn't know that they -- I
5 was served because Ms. Ajster didn't tell me, if you 6 weren't the lawyer, would you want you to testify to 7 corroborate his assertion?

8 MS. AJSTER: No, because the evidence speaks for 9 itself, and the service date is after the alleged phone 10 call.

11 THE COURT: Okay. I -- I thought that the service
12 date --

13 MS. AJSTER: No. The service date --

14 THE COURT: I thought your statement was that 15 you -- he couldn't have done it because he didn't know 16 he was served.

17 I don't have the Bureau County -- I don't 18 know when the service actually occurred. I don't 19 have --

20 MS. AJSTER: The service was actually on July 21 25th, after the alleged phone call.

22 THE COURT: All right. I just -- I wanted to ask 23 you that because it was on my mind.

24 MS. AJSTER: Yeah. So the proof of service itself

1 would speak for itself.

2 Additionally, as to Count I, just to address
3 the State's arguments about the prescriptions, again, I 4 think the records of when Mr. French had the 5 prescriptions filled and when he took them -- 6 additionally, he has an assistant, who -- who helps him
7 take medications. So I think she could testify
8 independently, as well as others. It's not that it's a 9 situation where Mr. French and I live in a bubble and 10 that there's not other people that he talks to or comes 11 in contact with that can't testify to the same thing.
12 If he says he filled a prescription and you have a 13 record from Walgreen's showing that it was filled, I 14 don't think you would need the testimony of -- 15 of myself to say that the prescription had been filled.
16 I think that speaks for itself.

17 Additionally, they raised this argument about 18 Mr. Brandt stalking. I don't know if he is stalking my 19 client or me. But, again, I don't think my testimony 20 is necessary for that. I have witnessed him drive by 21 my house numerous times. However, Mr. French's 22 assistant documents every single time he drives by the 23 house; as well as security cameras would document how 24 many times he drives past Mr. French's house.

1 So I don't think my testimony as to that is 2 necessary as there's independent means and better means 3 of proving that Mr. Brandt continues to drive by my 4 client's house.

5 Additionally, as to Counts (sic) II -- and it
6 gets to the actual substance of charges, Counts (sic) I
7 and Counts (sic) II. We're talking about a trial.

8 Now, the State is assuming that at trial 9 there would actually be a defense. I mean, based 10 upon -- we don't even know if there's going to be a 11 defense at trial. Count I is based upon the alleged 12 testimony of Mr. Brandt saying he recognized my 13 client's voice. Other than that, there's no evidence 14 of phone records between the two of them. There's no 15 evidence that the voice on this alleged tape is my 16 client's. The alleged voicemail was recorded. I don't 17 even know if it would be admissible at court since it 18 wasn't entered into evidence until three days after it 19 was taken.

20 So, again, as far as Counts I and II, there 21 are going to be motions to dismiss, motions to suppress 22 evidence. I don't even know if they're going to get to 23 a trial. We're jumping to the end, saying, well, all 24 these cases and all these counts are going to go to

1 trial. But it's highly unlikely that they -- that they 2 will. That's why I'm saying, at this point in time, it
3 is so premature as to Counts I, II, III -- well, all 4 nine counts, because as far as Counts IV through VIII,
5 I currently have before Your Honor motions to dismiss 6 and motions to quash the indictments. So we don't even 7 know if these are viable claims and counts at this 8 time.

9 So are we're talking about trying these 10 counts when we don't even know if they're going survive 11 motions to dismiss or motions to squash.

12 Additionally, as to Count IX, the State says, 13 well, she's touching on the surface of being a witness.
14 Well, that is not a necessary witness. And what am I 15 going to testify to as to Mr. Biewer?

16 So as far as Counts I and II, I'm not a 17 necessary witness because anything I would testify to 18 can be proved independently and with better evidence 19 than my testimony. Because, again, it goes to 20 credibility.

21 If they say, well, you know, she resides with 22 the defendant and they have a relationship, well, then 23 my testimony at trial -- the better testimony would be 24 that of the unbiased doctor saying, I saw Mr. French on 1 this particular day; I'm the pharmacist; I filled the 2 prescription.

3 So there's other people who are -- who would 4 be able to provide the same evidence.

5 Now, as far as Deputy Hollenbeck, the State 6 argues credibility. Again, it's a situation where 7 Count III is based solely on Deputy Hollenbeck saying,
8 well, on this particular day, I talked to Dan French, 9 and he threatened to shoot me. Okay, great. But where 10 is the evidence of that other than your testimony? And 11 the credibility of a witness is always a concern. And 12 Deputy Hollenbeck is one of the four deputies involved 13 in the Dana Holmes strip search case, and he has also 14 a conviction with (sic) aggravated assault with a 15 deadly weapon. So I don't really think that his 16 testimony is very credible. So if you go to trial on 17 Count III and Deputy Hollenbeck testifies, I don't 18 think you'd even have to present a defense because 19 directed verdicts -- because they'd have no evidence 20 other than the testimony of Deputy Hollenbeck.

21 And then as far as Brett King, those counts 22 again, there's motions to quash the indictments, and we 23 haven't even touched on the fact that the State's 24 Attorney's office, when asked about jurisdiction over

1 those counts, say, well, we'll figure that out.

2 Because we're talking about --

3 MR. STICKA: Objection. I have no idea where that 4 came from. I'm certain they never said that.

5 THE COURT: Where does that argument come from?

6 MS. AJSTER: Counts IV through VIII are based upon 7 telephone calls alleged to have occurred between Brett
8 King, who is in Florida, and my client, who best-case 9 scenario would have been in Bureau County but most 10 likely during these calls may have been in Las Vegas or 11 Indiana for medical treatment. And when asked -- the 12 State's Attorney was asked about jurisdiction, the 13 response to me was, we'll figure it out.

14 Well --

15 MR. STICKA: Once again, same objection. I have 16 no idea where that's coming from.

17 THE COURT: I'm not -- I understand the point 18 you're trying to make is that we're not to trial yet 19 and you should get to stay in the case before trial.
20 But I don't want to try the issues today.

21 MS. AJSTER: No. And I'm just saying that 22 there's -- we're not to -- to trial because of all 23 these lack-of-evidence issues, evidentiary issues. So 24 the chances -- we have to sort out and flush out all

1 these until we determine what counts we're going to 2 actually go to trial on, what evidence there's going to 3 be, and what testimony needs to be presented in 4 response to that evidence.

5 At this point in time they're arguing, well, 6 she's going to be a witness because she's going to 7 testify to this, and she's going to testify to that.
8 But we don't even know that because right now we 9 haven't had any evidentiary hearings. We don't know 10 what evidence is going to be presented at trial.

11 So my argument is that at this particular 12 time, yes, the counts have been filed. As to the 13 merits of each count, we don't know that yet. And so 14 the motion to disqualify me is premature. To deprive 15 my client of his constitutional right to counsel of 16 choice at this particular time, saying, well, she's 17 going to be a witness at trial, is premature because we 18 may disqualify me and then tomorrow the State's 19 Attorney's office dismiss all of these charges. Or 20 subsequent motions may be quashed or dismissed.

21 THE COURT: What about Counsel's argument about 22 fitness?

23 MS. AJSTER: Well, one, I don't think that's an 24 argument for this particular motion. I think that

1 should have been a separate motion.

2 THE COURT: He's not asking for a fitness
3 determination. He's making the argument, if I 4 understood it properly, that your relationship with 5 your client and the facts of the case make it difficult 6 for you to objectively evaluate whether he should have 7 a fitness evaluation. And then the effect not having 8 one would have on litigation.

9 MS. AJSTER: And that is an issue that has been 10 raised before. I discussed it with Mr. Adams.

11 Now, with regard to my client's fitness, I 12 would have an obligation to raise that. Regardless of 13 my personal relationship, if I thought my client was 14 unfit for trial, I would ask for a fitness hearing.

15 It doesn't reflect poorly on me if he's 16 having mental health issues. That's his issue.

17 Now, as far as his recent episode and the 18 24-hour involuntary hold, the purpose of that -- and I
19 don't have the medical records, but it was for a drug 20 interaction. Immediately prior to this recent episode, 21 Mr. French was taking two medications, both prescribed 22 by his doctor, which have a drug interaction with 23 adverse effects. He is now since not taking that --

24 MR. STICKA: Objection to her --

1 MS. AJSTER: -- and I don't believe that fitness
2 is an issue.

3 MR. STICKA: She's starting to testify now.

4 THE COURT: I'm going to sustain it to the extent
5 that I don't want you to make arguments based on things
6 you know in your personal knowledge. That's an issue 7 we ran into on the bond reduction hearing.

8 MS. AJSTER: And so at this particular time, I 9 have no concern about my client's fitness at this 10 particular time. If I did, I would raise it myself.

11 Now, there was, as the State argues, an 12 issue, but at this particular time, I don't believe 13 it's an issue any longer. And I believe that he is fit 14 to proceed on with trial.

15 Now, if I determine as his counsel that I 16 don't believe he's fit for trial, then I will raise 17 that. But for them to say that I am not going to raise 18 a fitness issue because of a personal relationship, 19 that's not correct. If I thought that there was an 20 issue of fitness, I would raise it myself and ask for 21 an evaluation. But, again, it's a situation where 22 they're speculating as to my representation of my 23 client in asserting his rights when they're his rights 24 to assert.

1 THE COURT: Let's say for the sake of argument
2 that I deny the motion to disqualify, we go through all 3 the pretrial motions and they're denied, and we get to 4 trial. What happens if at that point you realize you
5 are a necessary witness? What happens to all the work
6 that we did up to that point? I mean, what effect does 7 your continued representation of him have if you 8 subsequently determine that you have a conflict because 9 you're going to testify at trial?

10 MS. AJSTER: I don't believe there's any.

11 THE COURT: So if there's a subsequent conviction 12 at the trial, that won't be raised as a -- as an issue
13 on appeal, that for some reason, your being a witness 14 made it less effective assistance of counsel than he 15 would have had otherwise?

16 MS. AJSTER: Are you talking about if we get up to 17 trial and then additional counsel is representing 18 Mr. French and I'm a witness?

19 THE COURT: Right.

20 MS. AJSTER: I don't think anything prior to that 21 would affect any conviction or the trial itself
22 because what I'm doing now is preliminary evidentiary 23 matters, trying to get to the final nugget of evidence 24 and the final case that's going to be presented at

1 trial. And I think that, again, at this particular 2 time, to address those issues is premature. I think 3 once we get to a point where we're able to actually sit 4 down and set the matter for trial again and we know 5 what evidence is going to be presented, what counts are 6 going to proceed, you know -- because right now, as 7 I've stated, there's motions to dismiss. There's 8 motions to quash and to disqualify me now, and then 9 have those later not be viable counts would be 10 premature. My argument is that, one, I'm not a 11 necessary witness at this point because we're not 12 anywhere near a trial date.

13 If I were a necessary witness for trial after 14 all of the evidentiary hearings and we know what's 15 actually -- the charges that are going to go to trial
16 and when those are going to go to trial -- because as I 17 stated, there's going to be four separate trials on 18 these counts, most likely, which ones I may be a 19 witness to, which ones I would be a witness to. But at 20 this point in time, it's all speculation as to what I 21 would testify to. We haven't even exchanged discovery
22 on all of the subsequent charges. We only exchanged
23 discovery as I, II, and -- I, II, and III. So I don't 24 even know what the evidence is at this point in time or

1 how to defend against it.

2 But, again, you have motions pending to 3 dismiss, motions to quash. And, then again, it comes 4 to the point where it's twofold. Am I a necessary
5 witness at trial? At this point in time, I don't 6 believe so. And then even if I were, I believe that 7 disqualifying me would create a substantial hardship to 8 my client such that I would be able to continue as his 9 counsel at trial.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

11 State.

12 MR. STICKA: Just briefly, Your Honor. We'll 13 stand on our prior arguments. I would argue she's a 14 witness on every count. There's a lot of things -- 15 when you -- when Your Honor was asking her about was 16 she a necessary witness, there's a lot of things that 17 she glossed over or didn't mention, such as who's going 18 to testify about the alibi defense that in their house, 19 that he took a Xanax and a Valium and was sleeping
20 and -- or more accurately, sedated during the time 21 frame in which calls were placed. There is simply 22 not -- and that's just one example.

23 There is no independent evidence that can be 24 put on with respect to all of those issues.

1 Now, I've argued all of those things
2 extensively in the first argument. I'm not going to go
3 back through them. I think for -- with all due 4 respect, her answers are disingenuous with respect to 5 if you're Mr. French's defense lawyer do you call you 6 as a witness. Because I think any defense lawyer would 7 want to call her as a witness based on the assertions 8 that she made in the March 16th letter. She likes to 9 make a big deal out of she has motions to dismiss out 10 there. When it comes down to the issue of credibility
11 and you had in front of Your Honor -- Mr. Brandt 12 acknowledged and gave a statement he recognized his 13 voice. That's not something that gets dismissed out at 14 a motion to dismiss or on directed verdict. It's a 15 credibility question. Credibility questions go to the 16 jury. Or go to the judge. They go to the finder of 17 fact. That's -- that's -- it's -- when the issue is 18 credibility, they go to the jury. Credibility 19 questions are certainly ones that immediately go to the 20 jury.

21 Her answers, I think, are disingenuous about 22 whether she would call herself as a witness. Some of 23 them are even hard to believe based on the March 16th 24 assertions that she wouldn't want to call herself as a

1 witness.

2 She wants to decide if she's a witness. She 3 wants to decide the fitness issue. With all due 4 respect, Your Honor asked the question about are these 5 issues going to be raised. At the trial, I mean, if 6 she testifies as a witness, she's going to have a 7 different -- he's going to have a different appellate 8 lawyer. I think that's disingenuous. I think I would 9 argue to you one of the first things that the appellate 10 lawyer is probably going to argue is the problems with 11 her representation. And I -- I just don't see how that 12 doesn't happen. I don't see how you don't end up doing 13 everything twice under these circumstances. And that's 14 why the State is so concerned and why the State is 15 concerned about the fitness issue, as well. If he is 16 unfit and she decides she doesn't need to testify, how 17 does that ensure the best interests of the defendant's 18 constitutional rights? When she answered those 19 questions about not being a witness, she's protecting 20 herself in representing him. I would argue that that 21 is a clear example of her jeopardizing her 22 representation of him.

23 The State didn't write the March 16th letter.
24 She did. She intertwined herself with this case. And

1 it's just -- she is just extremely intertwined with the 2 case. And I just don't see how she can continue under 3 these circumstances.

4 And I rest on the -- the arguments made
5 during the State's first argument. I would ask 6 respectfully that she be disqualified from the case.

7 THE COURT: Thank you, Counsel.

8 This matter is before the Court this 9 afternoon for a hearing on two separate motions. And 10 I'll start with the motion we heard first, which was 11 the Defendant's Motion to Appoint Special Prosecutor.
12 The Court has read all the pleadings in the case. The 13 Court has read the parties' submissions. And the 14 decision about whether to appoint a special prosecutor 15 lies within the discretion of the trial judge. As 16 stated earlier, the statute that applies is 55 ILCS 17 5/3-908 (sic).

18 There are a number of cases that have 19 interpreted that statute and have looked at it. And 20 there are a few general principles that bear repeating.
21 As indicated, the State's Attorney does not represent 22 individuals or specific witnesses during the course of 23 the criminal prosecution. Prosecutions are commenced
24 in the name of and on behalf of the People of the State

1 of Illinois.

2 The office of State's Attorney is one that's 3 provided for in the Illinois Constitution. It is an 4 elected office. The State's Attorney has certain 5 powers and duties and responsibilities. As has been 6 stated previously, it is the obligation of the State's 7 Attorney to seek justice and not merely convict.

8 The Max case, which has been cited a couple 9 of times, is a Third District case, and it indicates 10 that a State's Attorney is an interested party in a 11 case and subject to the appointment of a special 12 prosecutor if he is, one, an actual party in the 13 litigation, or, two, he is interested in the cause or 14 proceedings as a private individual.

15 That case further points out that mere 16 speculation or suspicion is not enough to justify the 17 appointment of a special prosecutor.

18 Two issues are raised by the defendant with 19 regard to the State's Attorney. The first deals with 20 the fact that there's a conflict of interest because 21 Jon Brandt, who is a victim under one of the counts, 22 under the -- one of the initial counts, was a campaign 23 donor and raised funds for Mr. Towne. This Court has 24 not found any cases that specifically indicate that the

1 raising of campaign funds without more gives rise to a 2 sufficient relationship that would require there to be 3 a special prosecutor appointed in place of the State's 4 Attorney.

5 LaSalle County, like many counties in this 6 state, is small, relatively speaking, where people get 7 actively involved in their politics. They get involved
8 in campaigns, and they support people. And the mere 9 fact that someone donates time or money to someone's 10 Office of State's Attorney race, in this Court's view, 11 is not sufficient to find that there's a conflict of 12 interest. If it was, then a lot of State's Attorneys 13 in smaller counties than LaSalle County would have a 14 difficult time prosecuting any cases. Like Putnam
15 County. Putnam County is a very small county. It 16 just doesn't make sense that the mere fact that someone 17 donates, even to the extent of six percent of the total 18 amount of funds raised, would be enough to qualify 19 someone for appointment of a special prosecutor.

20 The second issue raised is that there has 21 been a federal lawsuit filed and that prevents 22 Mr. Towne from being the prosecuting attorney 23 because -- I suppose the argument would be that he has 24 now got an interest in the litigation.

1 As the Court indicated by its questioning, it 2 is troubled by the idea that the filing of a federal 3 lawsuit without more could give rise to the need for a 4 special prosecutor. The Court thinks that sets a 5 dangerous precedent. I do not believe that it was 6 intended that the mere filing of a lawsuit should make 7 a State's Attorney a party that would disqualify him.
8 I recognize that the lawsuit was filed by what 9 Ms. Ajster says was good faith. And I accept that the 10 defendant believes that his federal lawsuit has merit.
11 But at this point, the Court does not find that is 12 sufficient to disqualify the State's Attorney.

13 A Grand Jury of this county found probable 14 cause to issue indictments on the charges alleged.
15 Without regard to the allegations as to Mr. Towne's 16 interests, people who do not have an interest felt 17 there was enough information for this case to go 18 forward.

19 Based on the evidence -- actually, based on 20 the -- the arguments presented, the Court finds that 21 there is not sufficient grounds to appoint a special 22 prosecutor, and therefore the Defendant's Motion to 23 Appoint a Special Prosecutor is denied.

24 The second motion is more difficult, in this

1 Court's mind. The Court is aware that the Sixth
2 Amendment right to counsel is a strong and -- and large 3 fundamental right. It's -- it's one of the fundamental 4 rights set out in the Bill of Rights. It is not to be 5 taken lightly.

6 There are a number of cases that were 7 cited -- the Court has read those cases -- that stand 8 for the proposition that a defendant does have the 9 right to counsel of his choice. It is also, however, 10 true that that right is not absolute.

11 As indicated in the People versus Rivera
12 case, it does talk about the fact that the Sixth 13 Amendment guarantees a criminal defendant the right to 14 assistance of counsel, which encompasses the right to 15 effective representation, as well as the right to 16 select and be represented by one's preferred attorney.
17 However, they go on to say in the next line: The right 18 to counsel of choice is not absolute. It is 19 circumscribed in several respects, which may include 20 the disqualification of chosen counsel in the event of 21 a conflict of interest.

22 That opinion further goes on to say that 23 balanced against the defendant's Sixth Amendment right
24 to counsel of choice, Courts have an independent

1 interest in ensuring that criminal trials are conducted
2 within the ethical standards of the profession and that
3 their judgments remain intact on appeal.

4 In this case, the Court previously had the 5 opportunity to consider a Motion to Disqualify Defense 6 Counsel on March 6th. At the time that that motion was 7 heard, the Court did not believe that the State had put 8 forth sufficient evidence to adequately demonstrate 9 that there was an actual conflict that would have 10 required Ms. Ajster to not represent Mr. French in this 11 case. The Court felt that it was premature. It even 12 talked about it in -- in its ruling.

13 The Court indicated that motion was without 14 prejudice, in the event that something came up.

15 The reason the Court denied the motion 16 initially was because the Court felt that it was 17 speculative because at that point the Court did not 18 have sufficient information as to what Ms. Ajster might 19 or could say at a trial.

20 Since the filing of that motion, there have 21 been multiple pleadings filed by the parties which 22 includes the defendant's motion to appoint a special 23 prosecutor. Contained within that motion was a letter 24 dated March 16th of 2015. There were a number of 1 statements in that letter from Ms. Ajster which caused 2 the Court some concern as to whether she can continue 3 in this case because of the fact that she may need to 4 be a witness. I would note that in Exhibit A to that 5 motion, which is a letter dated December 23rd, there is 6 the statement that Mr. French was unaware of the small 7 claims suit because she accepted service on his behalf 8 and did not tell him until a week later. This, in the 9 Court's view, could potentially go to an alibi defense 10 as to why he did or did not act in a certain way at a 11 certain time.

12 In Exhibit D, which is the letter of 13 March 16, 2015, Ms. Ajster indicates that she has seen 14 Mr. Brandt drive by Mr. French's house twice. That may 15 be evidence that should be elicited at a trial to 16 demonstrate that Mr. Brandt has a bias and goes to his 17 credibility. She indicates that an incident occurred 18 outside the Bureau County Courthouse in which 19 Mr. Brandt made a disparaging statement using vulgar 20 language. And she was present for that. It indicates 21 that, again, she's the one who accepted service on 22 behalf of Mr. French and that she was aware of the fact 23 that they were attempting service on July 23rd because 24 there had been a truck parked and a note left and that

1 she had picked it up on a different date but didn't 2 tell Mr. French until later. And, candidly, if this 3 case gets to the point where we're at trial, the Court
4 cannot imagine that Ms. Ajster would not testify as a 5 witness, an alibi witness or a witness to corroborate 6 her client's assertions that he didn't do the things 7 alleged because he had no reason to do them because he 8 didn't know he was being sued.

9 There is also indications that she spoke with 10 Deputy Hollenbeck. And her conversations with Deputy 11 Hollenbeck are something that is foreseeably relevant 12 at a trial.

13 And so unlike the first time the Court heard
14 the motion, when there was speculation, the Court now 15 has specific instances of statements from Counsel 16 wherein she explains what information she has and 17 knows. And these go to Counts I and II, as well as 18 Count III.

19 And so whether the State added on, as the 20 defense claims, the additional charge, those go 21 directly to Counts I and II, which are different than 22 Count III.

23 The real issue for the Court and the reason 24 why the Court is struggling with this is because the

1 plain language of the rule, 3.7, is that a lawyer shall 2 not act as an advocate at a trial in which the lawyer 3 is likely to be a necessary witness.

4 Now, it is relevant that the term is 5 "likely", as opposed to "certainly". It isn't -- the 6 Court doesn't have -- it doesn't have to be an absolute 7 certainty that the lawyer will testify, but there only 8 has to be a likelihood that the lawyer will testify.

9 What makes this difficult is that there's no 10 cases to interpret it. The rule was changed from what 11 it said previously, and there's very little guidance.

12 What troubles the Court the most and the one 13 answer that I cannot answer is what does a Court do, or 14 what does a person do, when it's clear that they may 15 testify at trial but we're not yet to trial.

16 And that's what we have here. I -- this 17 Court believes that Ms. Ajster is likely to be a 18 necessary witness. So the question is: At what point 19 in the pretrial proceedings do you cross over from 20 being a necessary witness who could still represent a 21 client to being a necessary witness who can't represent 22 a client? There's no clear guidance as to where that 23 line exists.

24 Ms. Ajster would argue that the line exists

1 at some point prior to trial but after the pretrial
2 motions. The State argues that it happens during the 3 entire pretrial proceeding because if it's subsequently 4 determined there was a conflict, then the defendant 5 would have issues on appeal as to the effectiveness of 6 his representation.

7 There's -- there's no cases. There's no
8 place that the Court can look to to find the answer to 9 that. So I've given this a lot of thought. And it's 10 the part that troubles me the most, because this Court 11 does recognize the right to counsel, and the Court does 12 recognize that there is a high value placed on being 13 able to choose a lawyer of your own.

14 The Court's also aware of the fact that it 15 has an obligation to adhere to the high ethical 16 standards that lawyers follow and to assure that the 17 judgments in the case are subsequently affirmed.

18 Given the totality of the facts in this case, 19 given the fact that there had been instances where 20 representations and arguments have been made by defense
21 counsel which crossed from advocacy to testimony
22 seamlessly, this Court is of the opinion that defense 23 counsel is so deeply intertwined in the facts and 24 relationship of the case that it is necessary that she

1 be disqualified as the attorney for Mr. French. And I
2 do not make this decision lightly. And I do recognize 3 that there is a Supreme Court Rule that deals with 4 interlocutory appeals under this issue. And I am fully 5 aware of the import of this.

6 But I truly believe in everything I've read
7 and in what I've heard here today that the process 8 requires that Mr. French retain someone else to 9 represent him.

10 Now, Ms. Ajster can still provide him
11 counsel. She can still give him advice. She just 12 can't do it in court where she's going to be a witness.
13 It isn't like she has to move out and go somewhere 14 else. She is still able to be there for him. She just 15 can't do it as his attorney.

16 But given all of the information that's been 17 presented to this Court, this Court, in the exercise of 18 its discretion, does feel that disqualification of 19 counsel is -- is warranted under the facts. And so I'm 20 going to grant the motion to disqualify.

21 Now, we do have a trial date set in July.
22 And we have an OMHD date set, and we have a final 23 pretrial date set. I think that it would probably be 24 prudent to come back on a status at some point prior to

1 that so that we can ascertain what Mr. French's 2 intentions are with regard to other counsel. And I was 3 going to suggest, if counsel is available -- I'm going 4 to be back out here on June 10th in the afternoon for a 5 status.

6 MR. STICKA: Your Honor, the only thing that I
7 would say is I think when counsel -- when new counsel 8 is getting in, I want to say -- and I can't point Your 9 Honor directly to it -- that there has to be a -- a 10 status within 21 days. And that's probably --

11 THE COURT: That may be a little outside the 12 status date then.

13 I think that's going to be about 20 days,
14 unless my math is wrong.

15 MR. STICKA: And I didn't do the -- I didn't do 16 the math, so --

17 THE COURT: I think it's close.

18 MR. STICKA: That's fine.

19 THE COURT: But I'm scheduled to come back on the 20 Harris case that day for a pretrial --

21 THE DEFENDANT: Your Honor --

22 THE COURT: -- and so --

23 MR. TOWNE: The 10th did you say?

24 THE COURT: I said June 10th at 3:00.

1 So I will ask you, sir: Are you available
2 that day?

3 THE DEFENDANT: I'm not for sure because I have to 4 have back surgery, but I definitely want to represent 5 myself on this case. I do not want nobody else.
6 That's my constitutional rights.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 THE DEFENDANT: And right now at this time my back 9 is broken. And both of my hands. So I will have to 10 see a surgeon. And I would love to -- I'll represent 11 myself because on this case here, the cases, I 12 understand everything about it. And I've been on the 13 same medication for 13 years, so I know about 14 everything else, so -- yeah, I'd love to do it myself, 15 but I don't think I'll be ready for what he's talking 16 about.

17 THE COURT: No, no. The June -- June 10th date, 18 Mr. French, is simply a status date so that the Court 19 can figure out where we are and where we're going.

20 THE DEFENDANT: Okay. Yeah, I understand where 21 you're coming from.

22 THE COURT: Because Ms. Ajster had filed some 23 motions on your behalf.

24 If you intend to go forward on your motions,

1 then I need to set them for a hearing.

2 THE DEFENDANT: Yeah, I understand that. I
3 just -- the doctor says I have to get in right away on 4 my back. So what happens if -- I want to represent 5 myself, but my back injury's causing me that shoot-down
6 pain down my legs and everything else, and if I don't 7 get the surgery, I could go paralyzed. So I want to 8 represent myself, but in the mean case (sic), I don't 9 want to be coming to court every second because they 10 want me to come here to paralyze me. That's not --

11 THE COURT: Well, I can assure you, Mr. French, 12 that this Court has no interest in making you come 13 unnecessarily. But there are certain rules that the 14 Court is bound to follow. And one of those rules is 15 that we set a status date within 21 days, which is why 16 you need to come back.

17 THE DEFENDANT: Okay.

18 THE COURT: Now, I can't give you any legal advice 19 as to what's going to happen if --

20 THE DEFENDANT: Now, I got --

21 THE COURT: -- something happens with you
22 medically. I simply can't give you any legal advice.
23 But my point to you is that this Court does not intend 24 to have any more court appearances than are necessary.

1 THE DEFENDANT: Well, I got this for Your Honor,
2 because I know the last time you said -- but I talked
3 to the Mayo Clinic, and I talked to a couple places 4 who -- out in Las Vegas. There's a place out in 5 California. Now, they say -- the last time I went out 6 to Las Vegas, they said that if I didn't have the 7 surgery right away, if I fell again or reharmed again, 8 they say that I could be paralyzed. So I'm more 9 concerned about that than anything.

10 So I should be able to have my constitutional 11 rights with my -- because I'm on disability, and I have 12 a woman that helps me. Every day she's there. And she 13 went to Las Vegas. She's -- everything else with me.
14 And she's the one that gives my medication to me in the 15 morning because it takes me about four hours to get out 16 of bed in the morning. So I would recommend if this 17 case could go like in the afternoon because if -- if 18 I've got to represent myself, it takes me four hours to 19 get out of bed.

20 THE COURT: I was setting it at 3:00.

21 THE DEFENDANT: Okay. That would be fine. But -- 22 now, who do I call -- because I only have a disability
23 phone. I don't own no phone. I own a disability phone 24 from the State of Illinois. They give it to me.

1 So there's no bill. There's nothing. Do you see what 2 I'm trying to say? So on that phone, who would I call?

3 THE COURT: I think you're asking me -- I think 4 you're asking me to give you legal advice about what 5 should happen in the event of certain contingencies. I 6 simply can't do that.

7 THE DEFENDANT: No, who do I call on the phone to 8 make sure I'm going to be here? Because I never miss a 9 court date. That's what I'm trying to say. I don't 10 want to miss no court dates. Do you see what I'm 11 saying? Because I want to be in Illinois --

12 THE COURT: You just have to show up.

13 THE DEFENDANT: Okay.

14 THE COURT: You've just got to be here.

15 THE DEFENDANT: At 3:00.

16 But I'm just saying, if -- because with my 17 back, it will knock me out, and sometimes -- I don't 18 want there to be a warrant out.

19 UNIDENTIFIED AUDIENCE MEMBER: I'll take care of 20 it.

21 THE COURT: I understand, but you need -- and you 22 were admonished about this previously. You are 23 required, obviously, to come back to court every time, 24 whether you have an attorney or not.

1 THE DEFENDANT: Yeah, I understand that. I
2 understand that.

3 THE COURT: If not, there could be a trial in your 4 absence and sentencing. And you've been admonished as 5 to that.

6 THE DEFENDANT: Okay. So that's --

7 THE COURT: You just need to be here.

8 THE DEFENDANT: Oh, okay. Well, that's not a
9 problem there. It's just that, you know -- there.

10 So the 21st at 3:00.

11 THE COURT: No. June 10th.

12 THE DEFENDANT: Okay. June 10th at 3:00. No
13 problem.

14 THE COURT: Counsel's going to put together an 15 order, which I'll look at. And if it says what I said, 16 then I'm going to sign it, and you'll get a copy of it.

17 THE DEFENDANT: Okay.

18 Now, I've got a question, because both of my 19 hands -- I can't use them. Now, can I use my assistant 20 to write all the stuff down so I can, you know, be able 21 to be prepared?

22 THE COURT: At a hearing? We'll deal -- we can 23 deal with that when it comes up, sir.

24 THE DEFENDANT: Because I can't be sitting here

1 writing stuff down and stuff.

2 THE COURT: I understand.

3 For today -- you know, we've done a lot
4 today, so at this point the Court is not in a position 5 to offer advice.

6 THE DEFENDANT: That's fine, Your Honor. I'll be 7 here.

8 THE COURT: Do you have that order?

9 THE DEFENDANT: 100 percent.

10 MR. TOWNE: We do, Your Honor. Just one last 11 thing for the purposes of the order.

12 You received this morning from an 13 investigator some materials that are continued to be 14 sealed. I believe that they were relevant for the 15 Court to sua sponte issue -- determine any changes in 16 the bond or bond conditions. The Court did not choose 17 to review that, which is fine; but I also believe that 18 those materials under Himmel need to be presented to 19 the ARDC.

20 So I guess I would be asking that the 21 materials from that subpoena be released to me or that 22 the Court in turn submit them to the ARDC, one or the 23 other.

24 THE COURT: Well, as far as the Court -- as I

1 said, the Court received this at about 11:15, 11:30. I 2 finished hearings at about ten after 12, opted to have 3 lunch. I haven't had a chance to look at it because 4 I've been out here all afternoon doing criminal cases.

5 So it isn't a matter of the Court making a 6 choice not to look at it. It's just that, well, 7 frankly, the Court's been busy.

8 MR. TOWNE: Well, is the Court --

9 THE COURT: I will -- I will review the contents, 10 and if they comply with the subpoena, the Court will 11 turn them over. I believe that they are --

12 MS. AJSTER: Well, see --

13 THE COURT: They're DVDs or something.

14 MS. AJSTER: To back up, I mean, I was --

15 MR. TOWNE: Your Honor, she's not counsel in this 16 case anymore.

17 MS. AJSTER: Well, I was at the time the subpoena
18 was issued, and nobody gave me a copy of it.

19 THE COURT: Well, the Court has been asked to 20 determine whether a DVD or a CD complies with a request 21 for subpoenaed information. The Court did not have 22 access to review it before. It's now quarter to 5 --

23 THE DEFENDANT: Yeah.

24 THE COURT: -- 15 minutes beyond when Court

1 closes. And so I guess my question is, Mr. Towne, are 2 you asking the Court to stay and review the CD --

3 MR. TOWNE: No --

4 THE COURT: -- and then give it to you?

5 MR. TOWNE: -- Your Honor. I just didn't know 6 what you wanted to put in the order with regard to 7 those materials, if anything.

8 THE COURT: Well, the Court, obviously, has an 9 obligation to look at it and decide whether it complies 10 to turn it over. So that's going to happen.
11 Whether --

12 MR. TOWNE: That's fine. We can --

13 THE COURT: I just don't know that it's going to 14 happen this evening.

15 MR. TOWNE: We can wait on that, Your Honor.

16 THE DEFENDANT: Your Honor, can I have one last 17 thing now?

18 THE COURT: Yes.

19 THE DEFENDANT: Now, I got the tapes and all kinds 20 of evidence of -- of people going in the house and 21 stuff. I've been in bed for three years. Now, with my 22 doctor and everything else, now -- now, do I have to 23 run that by you, give you the tapes and everything 24 else, people talking on the phone and everything else?

1 THE COURT: This Court's function is to 2 decide motions and evidence as they're presented. The 3 Court cannot give advice as to --

4 THE DEFENDANT: Okay. Well, no, I was just -- I 5 was just asking. I was just asking. Okay. That's 6 fine.

7 THE COURT: The reason these came to me was 8 because they came by subpoena. That's the only reason.

9 THE DEFENDANT: Okay. That's fine. All right.
10 No problem.

11 MS. AJSTER: Your Honor, I would just ask that 12 Mr. French be given a copy of the subpoena as it 13 relates to those DVDs.

14 THE DEFENDANT: Yeah, because I never got no 15 paperwork, ever.

16 THE COURT: Do you have any objection to him
17 getting a copy of your subpoena?

18 MR. TOWNE: Absolutely not, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: Yeah, you'll get a copy.

20 THE DEFENDANT: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Anything else we need to do on the 22 record?

23 (No response.)
