Yes, let's add the whole family on the 24th. Let me know if you need any info on them.

Half the editorial boards went well. Go Huskies. Db

Sounds good, Doug. Should the insurance effective date for your family coverage be June 24?

Just completed editorial board discussion w Sun Times and conference calls w the PC's. both went quite well at this point. Will update you soon.

> Steve, thanks for the follow up on all of this. Let's go ahead with the self-managed plan and begin the deductions on 6/24. That seems to be the easiest way to get all of this to happen. Relative to insurance, Dana and I have had our daughters (Hannah and Robin Baker) on our health coverage. They are both under 26. Is it possible to add them to our NIU plan as well? Thanks. Doug Thus we are preparing a payroll check for $34,620 (less deductions). The check will be prepared and made ready for delivery to you on June 24. The travel reimbursements will come in the form of a separate Accounting check.

Thus, it is elective whether we make a SURS deduction from this check or not. We will be required to do so as of the date of your formal appointment. Taking a deduction will simply add to the deferred income that would be applicable to your Self-Managed account, should you elect that option per our earlier discussion.
