Boiled wool is so versatile, don't be surprised to see it popping up in unexpected places. It is actually the result of wool that is knit, then gently boiled. Lightweight and remarkably warm, this tighter, denser weave, with its unique look and feel, lends itself well to more tailored styles, like this coat. And the soft, felted fabric has natural ease, yet retains its shape beautifully. Plus it's the perfect canvas to showcase such rich colors. And although tailored like a dressier coat for "refined" moments, this coat knows how to keep it casual too. 51% wool/49% rayon. Dry clean. Imported.

FEATURES

- Lightweight, soft boiled wool
- Princess seams and back darts for feminine shaping
- Clean front lines provide a smooth drape, prevent bunching
- Back vent allows moving room
- Discreet side pockets
- Fully lined for neatness and comfort
- Above knee
- TEMPERATURE RATING – WARM: +10° to +30° Fahrenheit. Use this as a comfort range for the type of climate you'll be wearing this Boiled Wool Walker Coat in with a typical winter wardrobe. Learn more

Boiled wool is so versatile, don't be surprised to see it popping up in unexpected places. It is actually the result of wool that is knit, then gently boiled. Lightweight and remarkably warm, this tighter, denser weave, with its unique look and feel, lends itself well to more tailored styles, like this coat. And the soft, felted fabric has natural ease, yet retains its shape beautifully. Plus it's the perfect canvas to showcase such rich colors. And although tailored like a dressier coat for "refined" moments, this coat knows how to keep it casual too. 51% wool/49% rayon. Dry clean. Imported.

FEATURES

- Lightweight, soft boiled wool
- Princess seams and back darts for feminine shaping
- Clean front lines provide a smooth drape, prevent bunching
- Back vent allows moving room
- Discreet side pockets
- Fully lined for neatness and comfort
- Above knee
- TEMPERATURE RATING – WARM: +10° to +30° Fahrenheit. Use this as a comfort range for the type of climate you'll be wearing this Boiled Wool Walker Coat in with a typical winter wardrobe. Learn more

Township warned by State's Attorney's office

Gathering might have violated Open Meetings Act

By JENN WIANT
jwiant@nwherald.com

HEBRON - Township trustees in Hebron can expect to receive a written warning this week from the McHenry County State's Attorney's Office about a possible violation of the Open Meetings Act, Assistant State's Attorney Jamie R. said.

The letter, written by First Assistant State's Attorney Tom Carroll, warns the trustees that a meeting July 16, where some of the five trustees were present discussing township business, might have violated the Open Meetings Act. While it is our office's position not to sue this matter further, due in part to the fact that there is no indication that any action was taken, please let this letter serve as a reminder that as servants to the township, the Open Meetings Act applies when there is any gathering of members and public business is being discussed," Carroll wrote. At the July 16 meeting, township trustees and members of the public discussed the sale of township property and performance of Township Supervisor Gregory Kuhs. Trustees Mike Von Bergen, Dick Border, and Jack VanderPal were present.

First Assistant State's Attorney, in a letter to Hebron Township trustees

But there was some confusion among trustees about whether the public was properly notified of the meeting.

Von Bergen said the fact that the meeting might have been held illegally did not cross his mind.

"We had posted [the meeting] in six locations around town; we sent something to the newspaper ..." Von Bergen said. "We went to every effort that we could to have a legal meeting. We weren't there to hide anything."

Village alert system talks continue

By DIANA SROKA
dsroka@nwherald.com

SPRING GROVE - Village officials still are mulling whether they should implement a communitywide alert system to let residents know about weather emergencies.

The Safety Committee on Tuesday discussed the capabilities and effectiveness of the system, which touts the ability to notify residents by phone, text or e-mail message within minutes. But committee members were skeptical that the system could reach residents quickly enough.

"I really question whether it's an emergency service," said Police Chief Tom Sanders, who attended the meeting.

Local firefighters head to Gulf Coast

By TIM KANE
tkane@nwherald.com

MARENGO - Two firefighter-paramedics from the Marengo Fire Protection District left at 5 a.m. Wednesday on a tanker truck to help with the cleanup effort in Louisiana in the wake of Hurricane Gustav.

Lt. John Kimmel and firefighter Drew Arrellano left on a Marengo firetruck, a tanker with the capacity to hold 2,200 gallons of water, Marengo Fire Chief Bob Bradbury said.

When Kimmel and Arrellano arrive in Louisiana, what roles they will play and duties they will be assigned are still "sketchy," Bradbury said. Bradbury said the Federal Emergency Management Agency would pay for the trip.

Since Hurricane Katrina, the Marengo department has had a standing list of volunteer firefighters be deployed outside their jurisdiction to help with catastrophes. Kimmel and Arrellano were atop that list.

Gov. Rod Blagojevich announced Tuesday that the state was sending 250 firefighters and nearly 100 firetrucks to Louisiana.

Firefighters from about 80 departments were expected to have departed by Wednesday for the Gulf Coast on a seven-day mission, according to a news release from the governor's office.

Officials in Louisiana requested assistance through the Emergency Management Assistance Compact, a mutual-aid agreement signed by all 50 states.

A firefighter from the Huntley-Lake in the Hill Fire Protection District and two from Fox Lake also were sent.

Township group edgy about convention

Township government supporters seem a bit edgy about the idea of a constitutional convention, fearing that if a convention is held, township government might be at risk.

This November, Illinois voters will have the opportunity to vote for a constitutional convention. This happens every 20 years. In 1988, voters determined there was no need for a convention.

Who knows how the vote will go this year, especially given the poor performance of our state government.

A couple of weeks back, Woodstock resident Ed Riley was surprised to see stickers stating opposition to a state constitutional convention at a Dorr Township meeting.

The stickers stated, "Con Con No No."

Riley inquired as to the township's position on the possibility of a convention and was frustrated with the answers he got.

"I wanted to know what the big thing was? I wanted to know why they were [apparently] against it," Riley said.

"I wanted to know to, so I called Dorr Township Supervisor Robert Pierce. I was disturbed that a government entity would have such political material. I was equally disturbed that such material would be so poorly done. Really, who the heck is going to know what "Con Con No No" means?

BRIAN SLUPSKI

To my relief, Pierce told me the stickers were not created by the township. The stickers were sent with other material from Township Officials of Illinois, a nonprofit, private organization that represents township government interests in the state.

Pierce said that the Dorr Township board had not taken a position on the constitutional convention. Pierce recommended that I call Bryan Smith, the executive director of Township Officials of Illinois.

Township Officials of Illinois clearly has a position.

"We feel that a constitutional convention is not needed," Smith said. "The current constitution is a sound document that can be amended."

Smith cited the potential costs of a constitutional convention and said that our current system of local government works just fine. Smith said that a convention could mean the abolishment of sections of local government—like townships.

Why are townships so defensive? Township defenders always talk about how essential township government is, but if that's the case, why the fear that a convention might spell doom?

"From time to time, [people] have crossed ways with township officials," Smith said. "Some people like to poke at it [township government]."

Smith said that townships also are not as well known and that many people do not understand what townships do.

What do they do?

Well, townships manage roads that are not under the jurisdiction of the county, municipality or the state, they hand out public aid, and they assess the value of property for tax purposes.

The township assessors do have a big job that is not easy, but it still seems to me that counties could handle all three of those jobs. And if the electorate largely is ignorant of township government, that means voters are not doing a good job holding them accountable. That would seem to support an argument for elimination. Why do people like me think such thoughts if townships are so important?

"In a lot of cases, township officials are more quiet. They don't like to toot their own horn," Smith said.

Oh.

Perhaps the 1,433 townships that currently exist in Illinois are needed. Maybe it would be cost prohibitive to shift duties to the county.

Pierce told me that no government agency is as responsive in handing out aid as are townships. He said Dorr Township recently helped out a family by giving them $500 in aid, helping them stay in their home.

I have no doubt that many township officials are well-intentioned and work hard at their jobs.

But I still think that a discussion of the need for township government, and many other taxing districts, needs to happen. And the best place for that would be a constitutional convention.

DESCRIPTION

Your favorite Fine Gauge Cardigan Sweater, redesigned and more refined than ever.

- A women's cardigan made with premium Supima, America's finest cotton
- Versatile style transitions flawlessly from dressy to casual
- Taller neck trim and longer cuff and bottom trim
- Real shell buttons, a rare finishing touch
- Long sleeves
- Mid-hip length

"I love this cardigan. I tried it on and I couldn't take it off!" says Heidi, one of our customers. Still made with your favorite Supima® — the top 3% of American cotton. We've also added length to the rib-knit trim, enhancing the smooth drape and making sure the fit is "just right." It layers perfectly over tees, shirts and dresses and switches with ease from a polished outfit completer to a laid-back weekend cardie. 100% Supima cotton. Machine wash. Imported.

"This product is great for the iPad.

However it's Too Big for the Kindle Nook and Ipad mini...One of the reason we love these products is because of their compact size....this Levinger product defeats this purpose.

We love if you create a similar product with a smaller footprint"

DESCRIPTION

How many wool coats for women are woven in Italy, with a touch of cashmere?

- Woven in Italy and brushed for a luxuriously soft hand
- Decorative belt detail in back
- Side pockets with faux button flap
- Generous back pleat allows effortless movement
- Beautiful herringbone lining with contrast piping
- Below knee
- TEMPERATURE RATING – WARMER: 0° to +20° Fahrenheit. Use this as a comfort range for the type of climate you'll be wearing this Luxe Wool Swing Car Coat in with a typical winter wardrobe. Learn more

Compare this to other wool coats for women, and you'll notice its exceptional craftsmanship. This exclusive fabric contains a luscious blend of rich wool and sumptuous cashmere for a refined appearance and wonderfully soft touch. But while we left the weaving to the Italian experts, each and every other detail has been meticulously chosen by our own team of wool experts — princess seams to lend shape, French envelope closure on the inside pocket and impeccable stitching for an elegant finish. The styling is classic and clean, with a few modern accents to update the look. More than a coat, it truly is a unique work of art. Others may come close, but they likely come attached with a $400 pricetag. Here, luxury is destined to be yours. 68% wool/20% nylon/12% recycled cashmere, fully lined. Dry clean. Imported.

Customer Reviews

We take special care to see that our long-sleeve First Fork polo shirts are built with careful attention to detail and designed just right for your lifestyle. The smooth, distressed jersey surface of these rugged 7-ounce 100% cotton shirts makes them great companions for any activity. Perfect for a day in the field, an evening out at your favorite restaurant, or casting a fly to rising trout. Pre-washed for a relaxed, broken-in feel from the first time you put one on. Rib-knit collar and cuffs. Imported. Machine wash.

DESCRIPTION

A shell that won't stretch or fade.

- Blended knit keeps its shape and color
- Lighter fine gauge looks dressy, makes it easy to layer
- Neat ribbed armholes and crew
- Falls to high hip

Your go-to layering piece is knit from a reliable blend of 80% acrylic/20% nylon. The fabric holds onto color like a sponge, and refuses to stretch out of shape despite washings.
