People you really should be nice to your tax assessor, remember they determine the value of your home. Being nice goes farther than acting like an idiot or threatening them. One of the homes I went to today the home owner parks his truck right in front of my vehicle (he had a huge drive way).

One of the homes I went to today the home owner parks his truck right in front of my vehicle (he had a huge drive way). But he puts his tailgate down and sets his crossbow on the tailgate. Really!!!! I took a picture of it so if I have problems with them down the road I have proof of being threatened.
