

Law Offices of
ROBERT T. HANLON & ASSOCIATES, P.C.

131 East Calhoun Street
Woodstock, IL 60098

Robert Thomas Hanlon

Phone: 815-206-2200

Fax: 815-206-6184

October 30, 2019

City of Wilmington
Police Department
Attention: Phil Arnold
129 Robert P. Weidling Drive
Wilmington, IL 60481

RE: Connie Forsythe v John Norton
Will County No.19 OP 1740
Our File No. 19-0020

Dear Mr. Arnold:

Please be advised that I represent Connie Forsythe, Petitioner in the above-entitled action. Ms. Forsythe has been granted a plenary no stalking/no contact order that prohibits John Norton from being within 1,000 feet of Ms. Forsythe. Nevertheless, it has come to my attention that officers from your department refused to enforce the Circuit Court's order because Mr. Norton has a convenient excuse as to why he elected to undertake action against the language of the Court's order. It is not the province of uniformed officers to make legal assumptions or refuse to enforce an order that calls for enforcement of the order.

In fact, the failure of your officers to enforce the court's order may give rise to a complaint against your department for violating the civil rights of Ms. Forsythe pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 1983 et seq.

Accordingly, and with respect to you and your officers, it is a reasonable assumption that the officers will enforce the plenary order as promulgated by the Circuit Court. To the extent that there is further refusal to enforce the terms of the plenary order, I will advise my client to exercise her rights.

Respectfully

ROBERT T. HANLON, Esq.