Dear Kohl Customer

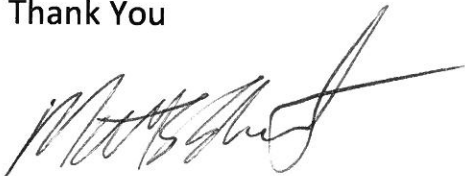

As we all have heard, there is a severe labor shortage currently and there is an extreme shortage of truck drivers. Kohl Wholesale is currently affected by this situation.

Due to these circumstances beyond our control we regret to inform you we can no longer service your account while still adhering to federal regulations regarding hours of service for our drivers in your area.

We highly recommend you contact Wabash Foodservice to provide service to your District. They are a Unipro Cooperative distributor like Kohl Wholesale, and they have the capacity to service your account in an effective manner.

We regret this inconvenience and hope to be able to solicit doing business with your District again should conditions return to normal.

Thank You
